Young Farmers Invade Store, Find Non-Food Items On Receipt

Pennsylvania Young Farmers test how much in a shopping cart is really food. Participating in the experiment at Stauffer's of Kissel Hill in Lititz are from left, Peggy Park, bashful Andrew Hipple, age 3, Jill Harnish and Shirley Krall, young farmer spokespersons, and Duane Yoder, store manager. CENTERVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — The Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association made its presence felt in a positive way Tuesday during the annual meeting at the Comfort Inn with the Manheim Chapter as hosts. To show just how much of the purchases made at the grocery store are not food items, the association, led by their young farmer spokespersons, went to Stauffer's of Kissel Hill and offered to pay for one lucky shoppers' cart full of food. Anything that was not food the shopper would need to pay out of her own pocket.

After spending a half-hour talking to the shoppers, Jill Harnish and Shirley Krall picked out a shopping cart they thought looked like it had a lot of food items in it. Peggy Park and three-year-old Andrew Hipple agreed to let the young farmer representatives separate the food and non-food items before going through the cash register.

With store manager Duane Yoder looking on, the total food bill with 30 items came to $45.77 with coupons subtracted. The 14 non-food items such as paper towels, cat food, dishwashing liquids, food storage bags and a teapot totaled $27.43 with coupon discounts. About 30 percent of the bill most people would have called food was not food at all. That was the point of the adventure.

At the opening banquet of the 39th annual convention Tuesday evening, both spokespersons for agriculture gave their speeches. The judges then announced that Shirley Krall was the state

Before Expo, Hog Packer Comments On Year

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — For hog producers, the last half a year "was, without a doubt, the worst situation hog producers have gone through in the history of the industry," said Tom Leidy, president of Leidy's Inc., Souderton.

Since the bottom of the hog market began to sink to unheard-of financial depths last fall, Leidy's, which employs 230 (200 full time) has been doing its best to support its producers. Despite the full-fledged economic downturn, many of Leidy's 100 hog producers, with help from company premium payment plans, survived.

As the state meeting of the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council (PPPC) takes place next Wednesday, many will be Leidy's producers, most from the southeast corner of the state.

Leidy, who spoke to Lancaster Farming by phone Thursday morning, explained exactly what they have been doing to stem what Tom Leidy calls the worst situation hog producers have endured — ever.

"After World War II, in the 1940s, hog producers still were paid about 15-18 cents a hundred-weight," he said. Adjusted for inflation, it is easy to see why hog producers have never experienced anything like this in the history of the country, he said.

In December, many hog producers were lucky to get 10 cents a pound for their hogs. Stories circulated about hog producers getting $10 — for an entire hog.

Leidy blames overproduction. Slaughter houses across the country were taking in an astronomical amount of pork — 2 to 2.2 million hogs a week at one time. This overproduction of hogs simply drove down the hog prices for weeks.

With the export markets drying up, producers who geared up production expecting greater of number of hogs on the boats to other countries took a bath.

Leidy said the family business began prior to the turn of the century. Leidy's Inc. was incorporated in 1968. In business with his brother Terry, Tom said the company ships about 50 million pounds of product each year, about 80 percent of which goes within 100 miles.

Some of the product is exported to Mexico and some to the Russian and Asian markets.

The small-sized company has been conservative and believes in the free-market economy. Leidy's does not contract any of the hogs. They rely on three buyers who set up purchasing arrangements with more than 100 farmers.

Leidy's Inc. purchases from producers who ship from a few hogs per week up to two or three trailer loads, said Leidy.

The company claims to have the best grain-fed hogs for the market. He said the producers rely on their advice regarding genetics, feed, and overall health management to produce the best, leanest hogs.

The company has cooperated with various state and regional pork promotion organizations to

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA.
FEBRUARY 03, 1999

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained slow to fair at best and generally disappointing. Seller offerings were fully adequate to ample for current inquiry. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were mixed in a full range of light to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to moderately heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 54 to 68 cents. Trade sentiment was unsettled and generally no better than steady in the parts complex, bone-in breasts remained in best balance. Other items were noted as adequate or available for a limited buying interest.

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Wheat bids finished lower on export disappointments, corn bids were narrowly mixed, and soybean bids fell sharply lower on lack of foreign sales. Wheat 2 to 7 cents lower. Corn mixed, 2 cents higher to 2 cents lower. Sorghum 2 to 3 cents lower. Soybeans 5 to 6 cents lower. Reports Pakistan bought Australian white wheat and Tunisia purchased French wheat, pushed wheat bids moderately lower. There have been no other interests in US wheat this week. Corn bids showed some strength due to overnight sale to South Korea. However, profit taking was noted on the Board. Soybean bids lost some of yesterday's gains. The Brazilian real is slightly firmer today. Soybean meal and oil traded lower.

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News
Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder cattle steady to 2.00 lower. Demand moderate for feeders. Steer and heifer calves steady with good demand. Receipts reduced by soft field conditions following last weeks 1-3 inch rain and normal February reductions. Quality of supply plain to average, few attractive. Weigh conditions gaunt to average. Feeders in mostly medium wheat flesh. Calves thin to medium flesh. Slaughter cows 2.00-3.00 higher. Slaughter bulls steady. Packer demand very good for light supply. Total of 300 cows and bulls sold with 55 percent to packers. Receipts this week 4,975; last week 9,833; last year 9,066. Supply consisted of 66 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 28 percent calves under 600 lbs; 6 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

CHARLES DARWIN BORN, FEB. 12, 1809.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

In honor of Valentine's Day (Feb. 14) and Abraham Lincoln's birthday (Feb. 12, 1809), we offer you Lincoln's sentiments on women "Others have been made fools of by the girls," he said, "but this can never with truth be said of me. I most emphatically, in this instance, made a fool of myself." Lincoln was initially spurned in love but later married Mary Todd, from

Kentucky "Whatever woman may cast her lot with mine, should any ever do so, it is my intention to do all in my power to make her happy and contented, and there is nothing I can imagine that would make me more unhappy than to fail in the effort."

Bad promises are better broken than kept.

CHOCOLATE PIE

2 tablespoons cocoa
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 pie shell (8-inch), baked meringue or whipped cream, optional frequently Add butter and vanilla, heating until just melted and mixed. Cool. Pour into the baked pie shell and let set. If desired, top with meringue, browning lightly in a 325° F oven for 15 minutes, or with whipped cream.

Makes about 8 servings.

Mix together cocoa, flour, and sugar in a double boiler. Add egg yolks and milk, and cook until thick, whisking

OPINION

Wearing A Noose

Farmers could lose valuable crop protection chemicals, and consumers could see less variety and higher prices at the grocery store if the Environmental Protection Agency continues its current program of pesticide regulation, according to two speakers at the recent American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting.

Bill Spencer, a Yuma, Ariz., citrus grower, pointedly said he will be driven out of business if the Food Quality Protection Act, the 1996 law mandated new ways to regulate pesticides, isn't changed.

Wearing a noose around his neck labeled "FQPA," Spencer said the "law fundamentally changes how you control pests and, in turn, makes farming an even riskier business." If FQPA isn't "fixed," Spencer said, farmers wouldn't be able to control pests or farm profitability.

Michael Fumento, a journalist and fellow with the Hudson Institute, said FQPA is a flawed law that was passed unanimously by Congress despite the fact that "nobody bothered to read or debate the bill." He explained there was a "desperate need to get rid" of the zero-risk Delaney clause that EPA was under a court order to enforce. But along with that and other worthy provisions came some bad ones and other measures "we don't even know about even now."

Fumento said the way that FQPA is being implemented threatens farmers' ability to provide the "world's safest and cheapest food supply." It will put farmers out of business and increase the cost of fresh fruits and vegetables, he said.

Fumento, who wrote the book "Science Under Siege," blamed a minority of extreme environmentalists for the FQPA predicament. He said they use "unscrupulous" research, know how to work the media and develop allies within the bowels of EPA to get their anti-technology views into regulations.

The FQPA is just another in a series of problems confronting American agriculture with the likelihood that our food in the future will be produced in other countries, countries where the same chemicals are used and where food safety regulations are almost nonexistent.

This only makes sense if you are trying to create the demise of agriculture in this country and make our people slaves to foreign food.

To Look at Ways to Improve Yields

Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent, offers the following ideas on ways to improve yields and profits. 1. Soil tests are an important key. They point out nutrients which are missing and need to be added to bolster yields. They also point out where fertilizer costs may be reduced. 2. Select hybrids and varieties based on performance. Use test comparisons that are done close to home under conditions and management similar to your own operation. Start the evaluation procedure early each year since the best varieties usually sell out early. 3. Practice patience. Do not be in a big hurry to get into the field in the spring. Avoid going into fields anytime during late winter or early spring when soil conditions are not favorable. Soil compaction, especially shallow compaction will rob yields. Plant as early as possible when soil conditions are favorable. If soil conditions are not suitable, keep the seed in the bag.

To Plant Seeds Correctly

Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent, offers the following tips on improving yields through proper planting. 1. Plant accurately. Slow the planter down. Research has shown that the difference between planting corn at 7 miles per hour (mph) compared to 5 mph may be as much as 10 to 15 bushels per acre in the combine.

2. Plant enough seed. Through the years, the most consistent variable in corn yields is plant populations. Research at Penn State shows that corn yields are highest when plant populations approach 28 to 30 thousand plants per acre. The most recent studies show that even 32,000 plants per acre can increase yields.

3. Plant uniformly. Adjust the planter so that each seed is planted at the optimum depth. Planting some seeds deep and other shallow often affects when the plant emerge and latter will affect pollination. The entire field does best when every plant is at the same stage of growth.

To Check Equipment

Check equipment before heading to the field. According to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent, late winter maintenance that replace broken and worn parts on equipment will decrease the amount of down time during soil preparation and planting

Before planting, calibrate the planter metering system. Over applying or under applying an insecticide or fertilizer may affect yields and profits. Even when starter fertilizer is needed, increases in yield usually occur with the minimum amount of fertilizer. Over application of pesticides is costly and does not improve results.

When planting, constantly be checking to see seeds are being placed properly and that the planter is closing the furrow and packer wheels are firming the seedbed. By paying attention to details, you should insure best yields and results possible.

LIVING IN TWO WORLDS
February 7, 1999

Background Scripture:
Romans 12:9 through 13:14
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 15:1-5

This week we deal with one of the most controversial passages in the New Testament: Romans 13:1-7. A quick reading will illustrate why. There is nothing controversial in Romans 12:9-21, nor in 13:8-114. But, in between there are seven verses that, along with 1 Peter 2:13-17 and 3:13, have been problematical for Christians since they were penned. They do not really answer, but only seem to make much more difficult, the question of the Christian's relationship to the state.

Had I a choice, I would not have selected these seven verses as the basis for a lesson on "Civic Responsibility," the title suggested by the Uniform Lesson guidelines. Why? Because, by itself, this passage conveys a very one-sided impression that is in vivid contrast to what scholar C.H. Dodd calls "the virulent hatred of Rome that runs through the Revelation of John." In Romans 13:1-7 Paul embraces the Roman state as "instituted by God" (13:1) to prevent evil and uphold good. In Revelation the state is seen as the enemy of Christianity. As Dodd says, Paul "saw in the Empire the providential instrument by which the coming of Anti-Christ was delayed." In Revelation, John regards the Roman state as the Anti-Christ.

ROMANS OR REVELATION?

How can we explain and work with these two drastically opposing views? One explanation is that they were written at different times and the situation in these two periods was very different. Romans was probably written sometime between 54 and 58 AD, at a time when persecution was not part of Rome's imperial policy. Revelation is thought to have been written sometime between 70 and 91 AD, a period when Roman persecution was definitely imperial policy. By the time of John the church found that "Rome could persecute as well as protect" (John Knox).

So who is right, Paul or John? The answer: both and neither. Both were quite justified in their views in the separate and different times in which they wrote. Paul's dictum, "Let every person be subject to the governing authorities" would have been quite inapplicable to the church in the time of John, just as John's hatred of the state would have been inappropriate in the days when Paul wrote Romans.

Neither of them exclusively authoritative for any other situations than those out of which they wrote. When Germans in the 1930s and 40s quoted Romans to confirm the authority of the Nazi government, they were misusing Paul and not for the sake of Christ. When Americans in the 1960s anathematized protesters against the Vietnam War with the same passages, their use of Paul and Romans was no more authoritative.

ANOTHER REASON

But there is still another explanation for their radical difference. Even apart from the difference in their historical situations represented by these two New Testament books, there has been a long-standing tension between state and faith that reaches back into Old Testament times when sages worried that the desire for a king would undercut the authority of God. The underlying theme of Samuel I & II and Kings I & II is: "No king but God." In the days of the Kings of Israel and Judah prophets were often clearly disobedient to their rule. During the days of Jesus and the early church there was definite conflict between Christ and his followers with both the Jewish officials and Romans. As theologian Emil Brunner reminds us, "It is the State which crucified the Lord Jesus and oppressed the Jewish people." It was the state that throughout the Roman world compelled its peoples to bestow the Emperor the homage that belonged to God alone.

So the tension we see between Romans and Revelation has always been with us. John Knox says: "Under pressure Christians have either granted the ruler too much latitude, or else have refused to concede him what he is fully entitled to claim. As a result they have been unduly subservient in some periods, while in others they have allowed no satisfactory place in their thoughts for the necessary functions of the state."

Christians live in both communities, the state and the kingdom, with loyalties to both. The state is instituted by God to bring order, justice and freedom into human life, but, as the Bible has clearly shown, when the state is unresponsive to the divine will, God has the supreme claim to our loyalty.

Follow These Guidelines To Growing Succulent Sweet Corn

ANDY ANDREWS

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) —

While there are no magic ingredients to growing the tastiest sweet corn, university experts agree on several factors: choose seed wisely, know your customers, take good care of the soil nitrogen that sweet corn demands, and watch the silks.

Follow those procedures, and you could be well on the way to sound sweet corn production, according to several specialists who spoke last week at the Mid-Atlantic Fruit and Vegetable Convention at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center.

While other factors might measure up, growers could be overlooking some critical stages in their production of corn. One challenge often overlooked is the neighbor's corn — and field corn plots can end up dramatically effecting sweet corn.

"Depending on what stage your sweet corn is in, if there are fresh silks out there, you will run into real problems from field corn," said Dr. Richard Hassell, vegetable extension specialist from Clemson University, South Carolina.

By far of all vegetables in the state, sweet corn production is the highest. According to the 1997-1998 Statistical Summary published by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, sweet corn was number one, at 19,500 acres in 1997 for fresh market and 2,800 acres for processing.

Despite some of the best efforts on the part of growers, sometimes the corn turns out not very sweet, at times far too bland, and loads at auctions get rejected.

Growers should beware, according to Hassell, that field corn generates a lot of extra pollen. Depending on wind direction and speed, the wind can transport that field corn pollen into sweet corn plots. And if the corn is under drought stress a couple of weeks before silking, the corn can suffer in ear quality and sweetness.

"Sweetness," which can be measured, is actually a byproduct of production. If the plant is under stress, sweetness is directly affected.

That's why it's important to consider fertilization of the plant, according to Hassell.

Like field corn, the nitrogen available to the plant in the soil can be measured with the pre-sidedress nitrogen test (PSNT), according to John Howell, University of Massachusetts, who also spoke at the convention. The PSNT can provide a good indicator of how much nitrogen is available to the plant at the critical stage — leaf 6.

The threshold level of 25 parts per million (ppm) of nitrogen (N) is the cutoff point. If the soil N measures 25 ppm or less, "we recommend sidedressing," said Howell. "Sidedress from 50-60 pounds of nitrogen per acre."

If growers put on more than the recommended amount after the PSNT, "we almost never see a crop response." But an overall soil test can also help growers benefit in a big way. Growers need to look at the soil pH — an item "often overlooked," Howell said.

For a typical sweet corn plant to develop ears, a corn acre needs about 55 pounds of nitrogen, 8 pounds of phosphorous, and 30 pounds of potassium. Stalks need about 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre, 12 pounds of phosphorous, and 75 pounds of potassium.

To perform the PSNT, at 12 inches of corn height, the soil needs to be tested with a probe to 12 inches deep (24 inches of depth would be better), in a place where no fertilizer has been broadcast or banded. Fifteen to 20 subsamples or cores need to be mixed together, similar to a regular soil test. In this case, the sample needs to be completely dry before being shipped to the lab. (The dryness is to stop chemical reactions from taking place to break down the nitrogen in the soil).

For growers that have little topsoil to work with, sampling down to six inches may be all that is needed. At that depth, perhaps a 30-35 ppm cutoff level would be sufficient, Howell noted.

For the nitrogen to work, however, soil high in organic matter will provide the energy necessary for microbes to break down nitrogen, especially where organic fertilizer from manures or compost are used. Manure provides about half the nitrogen in soluble, ammonia form, as long as the material is incorporated right away, the first year.

Too much nitrogen at sidedressing can create environmental problems. Howell noted he has seen that a lot of rain in June has leached out nitrogen overapplied at sidedressing.

For the next year, the organic nitrogen, in nonsoluble form, will be available the next year for the crops.

According to Hassell of Clemson University, cultivar selection plays a big role in crop productivity and acceptance.

He said that selection "dictates where you're going to be able to Old MacDonald has more than a farm now...

Not long ago it was all so simple, Old MacDonald, or a farmer in general, typically had some cows, pigs or chickens and grew a few acres of crops. He rose early in the morning to get his chores done and rarely left the farm. He made a small income from his milk, egg or meat sales, and it was enough to get by. His operation was small, but it was the only size his family could handle comfortably. The bank barn, tobacco shed and green pasture were all that was needed to raise his animals and house his equipment.

However, now we're on the brink of the 21st century, and it's obvious the stereotypical farmer has changed quite a bit in the past several years. The problem, though, lies with the fact that those not involved in agriculture still think the farm they live next to and the food they consume comes from a farm like Old MacDonald's farm.

What challenges can this belief cause for today's modern farmer?

1. Marketing: The public is starting to believe that if the product they're consuming was produced on a large farm, it must be dangerous to eat (i.e.: tainted with pesticides, antibiotics or other chemicals). This belief makes it imperative for larger farmers to convey the truth, which is that the food produced on larger farms has a higher quality standard and is made more economically than it had been for Old MacDonald. The growing organic market is an example of how concerned people are about what they are eating, and farmers need to explain to them that efficiency also means first-class quality at a reasonable price.

2. Ability to function: The modern farmer benefits from technological advances in farming equipment and machinery, which is much larger, faster and more powerful than in the past. However, problems often arise when a farmer needs to head to the field, for he may be in for an adventure while navigating through unforgiving traffic with his now larger equipment. Here are a few words of advice, though, use plenty of safety signs and lights on your equipment to alert oncoming drivers, and if you have a choice, move your equipment during low traffic hours. Also, since farmers are using fewer, but larger machinery, often they are forced to run it more hours a day in order to pay for it. Unfortunately, neighbors moving into new developments many times are unaware that farmers may run their equipment at odd hours during planting and harvesting times.

3. Ability to expand: Today, more people are removed from farms and are unfamiliar with farm smells and activities. Consequently, farmers often face hurdles when looking to expand, and things such as odor and fly concerns may turn into town meetings in front of planning commissions, causing extra permits and restrictions.

In conclusion, the old saying, "it's not what you know; it's who you know" can be applied to farm-

Lower Crop Insurance Premiums Seen

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania farmers will benefit from an estimated 30-percent premium reduction on their 1999 crop insurance policies under a recently announced federal initiative, according to Agriculture Secretary Samuel E. Hayes Jr. "Pennsylvania farmers are eligible for a one-time premium reduction recently announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture," Hayes said. "However, time is of the essence. The closing date for Pennsylvania farmers to apply for crop insurance sales for spring- and summer-planted crops is March 15."

Hayes said the reduction was made possible from $2.375 billion appropriated by the Congress to assist farmers in Pennsylvania and nationwide who suffered from crop and economic losses in 1998. He noted that a total of 14 Pennsylvania counties was designated disaster areas because of weather-related damages in 1998, qualifying family farmers for emergency loans through the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Those counties designated disaster areas were: Columbia; Cumberland; Dauphin; Juniata; Lancaster; Lebanon; Lycoming; Montour; Northumberland; Perry; Schuylkill; Snyder; Union; and York.

USDA's Risk Management Agency (RMA) is responsible for administering and overseeing the premium-reduction initiative and all programs authorized under the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

The final percentage of crop insurance premium discount will depend on how many farmers choose to insure or increase their protection and will be announced following sales closing dates.

Additional information is available from the RMA Raleigh Regional Service Office in Raleigh, North Carolina, at (919) 875-4880; by contacting a crop insurance agent; or by visiting a USDA Farm Service Agency Office.

The nearest office can be found in the blue pages of the telephone directory under U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. John Comerford Associate Professor Dairy and Animal Science

If an American consumer is considering buying a new car and he or she is considering Ford, Chevrolet, or Mercedes, most consumers would perceive there is one that is different among the three.

What makes it different? In this case there is a perception there is a difference in quality and workmanship, esteem of ownership, and/or length of service. Most consumers would also recognize those qualities come at a higher price.

A former colleague once told me that people do not eat beef because they think it is cheaper or nutritionally better for them - they eat beef because they like it. For that reason, some consumers would fit beef with the Mercedes when it is compared to other protein foods. However, the expectation of a higher quality eating experience with beef has diminished for many consumers.

One reason for the lowered expectation for beef is that the eating patterns of consumers have changed. A large percentage of all meals are eaten outside the home. Twenty-five percent of all breakfasts are eaten in the car. Nearly half of all consumers do not know what they will prepare for an evening meal one hour before the meal.

How does the preparation of a chuck roast fit the needs of these consumers? Obviously, it doesn't. Because the poultry industry has led the way in the development of foods that meet the needs of these consumers, poultry consumption has increased dramatically.

Another reason is consistency of quality of beef. One boneless chicken breast will look and taste pretty much the same as any other chicken breast. Unfortunately, the variation in the taste, tenderness, and eating quality of beef products presents a major challenge. Unlike an integrated production, nutrition, and genetic system like the poultry industry, the beef business has traditionally been a segmented system across many environments and types of management.

The development of beef production alliances has sought to address these issues. There are now at least 30 of these organizations currently in place in addition to dozens less structured and organized programs. They represent from hundreds of producers and tens of thousands of cattle to one or two seedstock herds and a few commercial producers.

Production alliances are found around the world. Several exist in the United Kingdom, and they were founded for the purpose of alleviating consumer fears about BSE. Most of the larger alliances are seeking to breed, feed, market, and handle beef with consistent methods. Standards are set for sires that are used in cow herds based on Expected Progeny Differences (predicted genetic values) for traits that are deemed most appropriate for the alliance.

For example, this may include using only bulls that are expected to produce calves with higher-than-average marbling in the meat, or use bulls that originate from the same seedstock herd to reduce variability. Calves are often pooled across many herds in these alliances and fed in the same feedlot using similar rations and management until slaughter.

Post-slaughter standards for handling the product may then be set for procedures such as aging or electrostimulation of the carcass - both of which have been proven to increase tenderness. Finally, the product may then be marketed under a label unique to the alliance to develop consumer recognition and acceptance.

Other alliances, and those currently having the greatest success, may be breed-specific. Several cattle breeds are involved in setting standards for carcass quality and grade and authentication of the breed of the animal. The Certified Angus Beef program is one such alliance, and has enjoyed the greatest success in developing consumer awareness and loyalty to their product. Other alliances exist for the production of natural beef, high-lean beef, or beef produced in a particular state or region.

Certified Angus Beef and other types of beef produced in a national alliance are available in most parts of Pennsylvania. There is currently a model for a Pennsylvania-specific beef production alliance being tested. Sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmers Union, the iCertified Keystone Beef program is being tested in three restaurants in western Pennsylvania.

In addition to specific, consistent standards of production being employed in the production of this beef, this group is marketing the concept of iLocally produced beef. The restaurant clients are being encouraged to associate the good eating experience of iKeystone Beef with the fact that it was raised by their neighbor.

What impact has alliances made on the beef industry? It is probably too early to tell. There are, and will continue to be, bumps and detours on the learning curve for the beef industry. However, it is, and will remain, essential that the beef industry be dedicated to consumer needs and desires.

This implies not only flexibility of products that are available, but a higher level of consistency of production and product quality. Production alliances should be able to meet those needs, and provide consumers with a great eating experience, every time.

And we can prove it.

Here are the facts. Over the past six years, Frontier® herbicide has outperformed Dual® brand herbicides, no matter what the weather. Through wet years, dry years and in-between years.

Here's why. The unique chemistry of Frontier helps it stay in the weed zone when it's wet. And it activates with less moisture when it's dry.

What's in it for you? Consistent grass control in corn or beans. In any weather. When you need real muscle to control grasses you can do better than Dual. With Frontier.

Regional Director Says Extension Service Can Be Likened To Golden Gate Bridge

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)

— Penn State's expanding role in cooperative extension doesn't mean shrinking resources, according to the county extension director. On the contrary, according to Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Director John Schwartz.

"I'm proud to report that we are enhancing and expanding resources rather than shrinking them, as many were afraid of," he told about 150 family and friends of the extension service Thursday night at the annual banquet in the Farm and Home Center.

In fact, noted the Penn State Extension Service Capitol Region Director Dr. Michelle Rodgers, there's a metaphor she wanted everyone at the celebration to take home: The Golden Gate Bridge of San Francisco.

The bridge "is a fabulous structure with historical significance, with facilitative significance, managing and moving people," she said—an apt metaphor for the role of the Penn State Extension Service.

The service is "part of the infrastructure here to improve lives, to make lives better," she said.

For the bridge, the work on it is never completed. "When the painting is finished, they have to start all over again," she said of the upkeep needed on the magnificent structure. The same is true of cooperative extension. "Our work to improve lives is never done, is a constant job," she noted.

Like the Golden Gate Bridge, extension is constantly updating itself. Rodgers indicated that in the coming months, significant changes have already been put in place.

First, Leon Ressler, Lancaster County's environmental agent, is working on a wide-ranging, statewide swine odor remediation

Thirdly, the capitol region has the "largest Master Gardener program of anywhere in the state," and to upkeep the bridge that is extension requires a "lot of people," including volunteers, to "maintain a structure like that."

Rodgers made note that, in the last issue of Lancaster Farming, which she said she tries to find time to read Monday at lunchtime, half of the Lancaster County staff (Turn to Page A24) were featured in some way. She noted the newspaper is "important to many facets of the ag community."

Fourth, Rodgers honored staff who have celebrated 10, 20, and 25 years with the extension service.

Lancaster Extension Director John Schwartz reviewed some of the accomplishments of the Lancaster County extension office from Oct. 1, 1997-Sept. 30, 1998. The service, highlighted in the annual report, distributed 216,138 newsletters and publications in the county. Staff and volunteers gave individual help and assistance to 40,448 people. There were 4,874 meetings with 47,279 people attending.

In addition, 662 volunteers assisted the professional staff in individual programs. Schwartz mentioned that 3,851 4-H members carried out 5,179 projects in the county.

He said he was proud to report that agriculture continues to grow in the county in spite of all the urban pressures. He said that 1997 farm gate receipts increased 1 percent over 1996, "in spite of low prices for milk and eggs," he said. The number of dairy cows, chickens, hogs, and sheep increased in 1997 while acres harvested increased by 14,000 acres.

Current emphasis in agricultural programs of extension are on environmental issues, profitability, food safety, and marketing. Agents have provided leadership and recognition at the national level for the Pork Quality and Environmental Assurance Program and the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program.

Horticultural programs have emphasized new crops and varieties, integrated pest management, and new cultural practices. Other programs have included composting, odor and fly control, succession planning, financial management, and precision agriculture.

For the family living program, educational programs were developed in the areas of parenting, child care, financial management, foods and nutrition, and food safety. One-hundred eighty-seven child care providers attended 11 meetings on child care skills.

Said Schwartz, "Our EFNEP advisers continue to organize supercupboards as a way to reach more adults through group instruction, foods and nutrition, and food purchasing tips. Safe food handling for volunteers has become a very popular program."

He emphasized the emphasis of the impact of food washing.

Participants have come from church groups, fair stands, group homes, fire companies, and other non-profit organizations. Money 2000 has been introduced to help fami-

What Is Embryology? R. MICHAEL HULET Associate Professor Poultry Science

Embryology is the study of growth and development of embryos from fertilization to hatching. It is also the most popular 4-H youth program in the state of Pennsylvania and in may other states. One of the reasons for this interest is the satisfaction and understanding that youth can gain from observation and the study of life.

The bird egg is ideal for this study because the development takes place outside the animal and can be easily observed and studied during the three week incubation period (important for youth). The level of difficulty can be varied according to capabilities of the students involved.

Knowledge of embryology can also be used by hobby and commercial poultry producers to evaluate hatchery management. By breaking out the hatch residue one can determine when the embryo died, possibly why they died, and how a change in management of the equipment or handling of the eggs could improve reproductive efficiency.

While many are able to study this process in school with a teacher or a 4-H youth agent providing training and instruction, small groups or family 4-H groups could also accomplish this process by contacting their local extension agents. The agents and offices have resource material that can guide a study of embryology at many levels.

The first question is "where can I get the eggs and equipment?" The information is included in the manual "Beginning of Life." What's required is an incubator that can maintain 99.5 to 101.5 degrees F, fertile eggs, and time to manage and study the developing chicks.

Fore thought in deciding what to do with the chicks that hatch is important prior to setting the eggs in the incubator. Placement of the birds in a good home and humane disposal of all remaining embryos is essential and is discussed in the manual. After obtaining fertile eggs from a reliable source (eggs from the grocery store are not normally fertilized), the eggs should be maintained in a manner to protect them from conditions that would cause early embryonic mortality.

Hatching eggs should be held at temperatures between 55 and 65 degrees F at 70 to 80 percent relative humidity (RH). Temperatures greater than 68 and lower than 40 degrees F can cause some embryonic death. Storage of hatching eggs for less than 10 days is advisable - optimal storage time is three days.

After storage, eggs are warmed to room temperature for 2 to 3 hours before placing in the incubator. Incubation is the process of maintaining environmental conditions favorable for development and hatching of eggs. The most critical incubation factors are temperature, humidity, ventilation and turn-

Conservancy Celebrates Accomplishments

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)

The Lancaster County Conservancy, established in 1969 as a non-profit, private, membership-supported land trust dedicated to the conservation of Lancaster County's natural open space resources, will gather for its 30th Annual Meeting and Banquet on Saturday, March 6, 1999, in the Lehr Dining Room of Millersville University's Gordinier Hall. The evening will begin at 6:00 p.m. with a reception during which Mr. John Jarvis, former headmaster of Lancaster Country Day School and amateur cartographer of wide renown will sign and number prints of his historical rendering of a map of the Pequea Valley.

Following dinner, a brief meeting will follow at which time The Conservancy's Volunteer of the Year Award will be presented to Fred Kyper, a land steward for the Tuquan Glen Nature Preserve; the Robert K. Mowrer Board Service Award will be presented to two retiring members of the board of directors, Valerie A Moul and Philip L. Taylor; and Land Conservator Awards will be presented to the Donald E. Rannels' family for their recent gift of 91 acres, the largest ever to be donated to The Conservancy.

The speaker for the evening will be Dr. W. Fred Kinsey, III, whose subject will be "Shenk's Ferry and Susquehannock Indian History." For over 40 years Dr. Kinsey has conducted research on the prehistory of eastern Pennsylvania and especially the Lower Susquehanna Valley. From 1955-1960, Dr. Kinsey was state archaeologist and from 1960-1963 chief curator of the State Museum of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission. Dr. Kinsey was a member of the anthropology department of Franklin and Marshall College which he chaired for five years, and director of the North Museum.

The public as well as members of The Conservancy are welcome to attend this event. The per person price is $19.00 and reservations must be received by no later than February 26. For further details or to place a reservation, contact The Conservancy office either by phone at 392-7891; or by fax at 392-8220; or by email at conserv@redrose.net.

Extension Service

lies increase savings and reduce debt.

Schwartz spoke about the strong Master Gardener Program in the county. A total of 83 active Master Gardeners donated 5,680 hours with more than 12,000 contacts, including answering horticultural questions, conducting a plant diagnosis clinic, and holding a "Meet the Plants" program for youth. They also have established and maintain an outstanding demonstration garden at the Farm and Home Center.

Schwartz thanked Shirley Wagner, volunteer coordinator of the program, and other Master Gardeners who "gave leadership to our home horticulture program."

Schwartz said, "We have a very strong 4-H program." There are a total of 157 4-H clubs in the county. Embryology continues to be a very popular in-school program, acquainting youth with biology and ag science. 4-H programs continue at Barnes Hall, the county's youth detention center, to provide the skills necessary after their rehabilitation.

"We continue to have a strong traditional 4-H club program," he said. "4-H beef, sheep, swine, and horse clubs saw a significant increase in membership last year."

New urban 4-H outreach introduced entomology and bicycle projects to 127 inner-city youth. Nearly 500 projects were entered at the 4-H Fair in the summer.

Schwartz pointed out the 4-H exhibit at the commodity banquet Thursday evening. He mentioned the annual 4-H auction scheduled Feb. 20 at the Farm and Home Center.

Cooperative extension is "aggressively developing educational programs to address the issues facing Lancaster County," said Schwartz. They include efforts to improve rural/urban relationships, public policy, and environmental issues. Among them are certifying pork producers to environmental quality, food safety, parenting workshops, taxation and farmland preservation, and assistance for fly control and odors.

Schwartz introduced and congratulated the staff for delivering "the outstanding educational programs" to help people "adapt the latest research and technology to enhance their lives."

Schwartz also introduced past directors who have left their mark on county extension. They included Max Smith and Jay Irwin.

Schwartz said that in the 86-year history of the extension office, he knew of no other county in the nation with fewer number of people who have held the position in the same length of time.

Michelle Rodgers, capitol region director, honored Schwartz for serving 10 years continuously with the Lancaster office. Schwartz has served a total of 23 years with extension.

Also, Dr. Robert Thee, housing and family resource management on a multicounty level with extension, was honored for 10 years of service.

Diane Groff was honored for 20 years of service. And Gail Bubernack was honored for 25 years of continuous service with the Lancaster office, and presented with a rocking chair from the Penn State Alumni Association marked with the Penn State emblem.

Gary Dean, newly elected director of the southeast region of the county, provided a treasurer's report for 1998. Total funds appropriated by the Lancaster County Commissioners came to $418,500. State and federal government support of Lancaster County Cooperative Extension in FY-97 was $1,080,782.

Interest earned totaled $5,973.23. This brought the total to $424,473.23. Expenditures were $413,411, leaving a net margin in 1998 of $11,062.23.

New directors elected at the meeting include, from the northwest region, Karen Wolgemuth, Elizabethtown, an egg producer. In the southwest, new director is J. Edwin Kilheffer, Millersville, with a broiler and beef farm. In the northeast, new director is Sara Augsburg, Reinholds, on a crop farm with hogs.

In the southeast, new director is Gary Dean, Strasburg, who raises backyard sheep. New southern director is Donald Trimble, Peach Bottom, with a dairy farm.

Follow These Guidelines

sell that corn." Said Hassell, "Please do not buy cheap seed," he said.

"Don't bargain on the price of corn seed. If you do, you're going to get just what you asked for."

Producers, he said, need to ask "as many questions as possible of the seed company representative."

Also, growers need to determine, from their customers, whether they want certain characteristics, such as crunchiness (the sweet breeds are very crunchy, he said), or creamy (some SEs provide that, but some SEs can also be very crunchy). Some bicolor can provide large kernel size, and that can differ from customer to customer.

Hassell noted that researchers have come up with a way of measuring the toughness of the peri-carp. "Every silk is attached to two kernels," he said. So it's important to ensure that no damage is done to the silk and enough moisture is available.

When the corn is under drought stress, other challenges can prevail. In one season, according to Hassell of Clemson University, sweet corn test plots went in, with a range of 60-90 day maturities. That same droughty year, all the varieties "matured at the same time," he said. "It was a very humbling experience."

Sweet corn manufacturers follow a variety of procedures to come up with a corn that will germinate between 50 degrees and 96 degrees Fahrenheit. And contrary to popular belief, the largest seed in the bag is not necessarily the seed that will germinate best. "Sometimes the largest seed is the worst seed," he said.

His research has indicated that the small seed germinated the best and the medium seed the worst.

Also, some quality control at seed companies was questionable. Researchers were seeding "differences in damage to kernel" by the machines that handle the corn.

Growers should understand that if growing the shrunken varieties, most will germinate between 64-68 degrees Fahrenheit.

The SEs will germinate in the upper 50s or lower 60s of soil temperature.

Sweet corn is a plant that responds to heat, measured in heat units. Maturity, said Hassell, varies with heat units, not days to maturity. Growing degree days, used to determine heat units, are based on a comparison of maximum and minimum temperatures to base temperature.

In general, the shrunken, or SH2 varieties, have poor germination in cold soil temperatures. The SEs require less soil heat. The sweet breeds germinate real well under cool soil temperatures. The SU's germinate under field corn soil conditions.

For growers who want to follow consecutive plantings, don't plant until the youngest corn in the field has the first two leaves appear. In the spring. When summer arrives, plant on a weekly basis.

A uniform planting depth is recommended, not deeper than 1 to 1½ inches. Look seriously at an air planter to provide a consistent, uniform depth, noted Hassell.

"Prepare that seedbed," he said. And ensure that "your planter provides the same uniform depth." Growers must, above all, ask the questions necessary of their equipment and seed representatives.

At harvest, growers should realize it is critical to keep the corn away from heat. Many times, the corn is piled up in the wagon and sits for hours in the sun.

"Field heat takes away sweetness," said Hassell. Field heat reduces the amount of sugar in the corn. Some growers used forced air or hydrocooling in trailers to get rid of the field heat.

More about the fruit and vegetable conference will appear in the next issue of Grower & Marketer, special pages of Lancaster Farming, scheduled March 13.

Bobby Oldham/Coastal Leaf Tobacco

ATTENTION 609 TOBACCO FARMERS

We will begin receiving 609 type tobacco for processing beginning Mon., Feb. 8. We will be taking a limited amount of tobacco by appointment only. This tobacco must be graded correctly (in four grades) and stripped with the proper moisture content.

We would advise anyone considering carrying tobacco over next year to leave it hanging in the barn. This tobacco does not carry over well in the bale. If you have tobacco already in bale, you might want to consider selling or processing.

We have processed several Lancaster Co. crops in years past. We had success in getting our farmers back 40% over market value in 1986. Last year all the farmers that processed with us, got back a $1.29/lb and were paid in Nov. 1998. We feel at the current prices, the best hope for farmers making a profit is to process.

ATTENTION TOBACCO FARMERS

We will be receiving tobacco at Paradise Sale Barn Feb. 9, 10, 11, 12 for processing - at no upfront cost to you, the farmer. We are not dealing with a cigarette company, but with a processing company. The processing company will pay Paradise Sale Barn for their cost of receiving tobacco.

When the processing company sells the tobacco, you will be paid by your weight on delivery date.

With all the changes in tobacco in the U.S.A. this may be the way your tobacco is sold in the future. There are a lot of changes in the making.

Please remember, farmers, your tobacco will not keep in your barn. If you don't like our deal, go with somebody else reputable and get your tobacco processed.

Sincerely,
Paradise Sale Barn

Lancaster Holstein Club Announces Tour Plans

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Holstein Club has announced plans for its annual tour, set to be held March 9 to visit three farms, located in upstate Pennsylvania and in southern New York.

The tour bus is scheduled to leave the Lancaster Farm and Home Center promptly at 7:45 a.m., March 9, and return about 11 p.m.

The cost for the tour is $30 per person for reservations made by Feb. 20. Reservations after Feb. 20 cost $35 each.

Included in the cost of the tour is a turkey supper, although participants need to bring their own packed lunch.

The bus for the tour is to be equipped with a video player and a video of the 1998 Mid-East National Holstein Show at Madison, Wis., is to be shown during the trip.

The tour is open to all. Membership in the Lancaster Holstein Club is not necessary.

To make reservations, fill out a registration form and a check for the appropriate amount made out to: Lancaster County Holstein Club.

Send the completed registration form and check to: David R. Wenger, 532 Breneman Road, Manheim, PA 17545.

The tour is to visit three of the top BAA herds (by size) in the nation.

First on the tour is to be a visit to Gor-Wood-D Holsteins in Mansfield.

Operated by father Gordon, and sons Tim and Ron Wood, the homebred herd was started in 1948 and has a rolling herd average production of 23,831 pounds of milk, 852 pounds fat and 769 pounds of protein. The BAA is 110 percent for 225 cows. The farm has the top BAA in the nation for herd with more than 150 cows.

Included in the herd are 80 cows classified as Excellent.

In addition to quality Holsteins, the Woods have been involved in breed policy making. Ron Wood has been a member of the Holstein USA board of directors for the past five years.

Also to be visited is Lantland Farms, owned by the Lant family in a five-way partnership including four children, their families and the mother. The Lants milk in a 180-cow tiel stall barn. The herd has a rolling herd average of 21,500 pounds of milk.

Lantland Farms is an 800-acre Dairy of Distinction with a BAA of 109.2 percent on 176 cows, with 53 Excellents, including a 95-point cow and five 94-point cows.

Also to be visited is Mt. Glen Farm, owned by Ben and Dean Jackson. The milk 85 cows three times-per-day, and the herd has an average production of 29,000 pounds of milk, 1,100 pounds of fat and 900 pounds protein.

The Mt. Glen herd is fed a totally mixed ration (TMR) and has around-the-barn drop feeders and a liquid manure system.

The BAA on the herd is 106.9. The farm is home to Mt.

Glen Borker Lucy, EX-94, the first-place senior 3-year-old at the World Dairy Exposition show. In the herd are her dam, a Very Good daughter of Glen Drummond Delegate, and her sister, a Hanoverhill Raider daughter.

Maryland/Virginia Distribute 13th Check

RESTON, Va. — Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc. distributed its traditional 13th check to members, totaling over $3.5 million, or 19 cents per hundredweight. Issued on Monday, February 1, 1999, the money was generated as over-order premiums from the profits of raw milk sales in 1998. The payment was made on almost 1.9 billion pounds of milk marketed by the cooperative in 1998.

Class I sales in the Southeast, including Florida and the Carolinas, are the major contributor to the 13th check. Representing about 25 percent of the returns Maryland and Virginia generates for members over Federal Order prices, the 13th check has been allocated by the cooperative for 21 straight years, averaging 18.7 cents per hundredweight.

General Manager George Walgrove said, "Maryland and Virginia was pleased with the above average over-order premiums we were able to negotiate last year. The level of over-order price available from the market varies according to the Federal Order prices. Generally, when Federal Order prices are high, over-order prices are low. With the low all-time high average basic formula price in 1998 at $14.20, we found the 19 cents to be good news for members."

President Jack Hardesty, a milk producer from Berryville, Va. said, "The board was pleased to approve the 13th check allocation, and are happy Maryland and Virginia had a good year for raw milk sale profits. As we anticipate a seasonal decline in milk prices, we hope this extra cooperative distribution comes at a good time."

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, headquartered in Reston, Va., is a milk marketing and processing cooperative that markets milk for about 1150 dairy farmers throughout Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Delaware. The cooperative includes Marva Maid, a milk processing division in Newport News, Va., a manufacturing division in Laurel, Md., and an equipment division in Frederick, Md.

Foot Health - Article 34

Cows are no better than the soundness of their feet. If their feet are sore they don't feel like walking to feed and water. If they don't eat and drink, they don't milk.

1. Laminitis is a major foot condition that can get started as early as calfhood. Laminitis (founder, white line disease) can weaken the hoof and predispose it to various foot infections. It can be caused by conditions that trigger the body to produce histamines, which often times end up in the hoof and interfere with its blood circulation and tissue integrity. Some conditions that can cause laminitis are

- Feeding excessive levels of high energy feeds to calves, heifers and cows
  - Not acclimating heifers and dry cows to higher levels of grain feeding prior to calving, and bringing them onto high levels of a "hot" ration (high energy, low fiber rations) too rapidly after calving
- This can cause a buildup of acids in the rumen, due in part to the higher level of concentrates being fed. If the rumen papillae are not well enough developed and functional before calving, the cow has less ability to absorb and utilize the fatty acids that are produced in the rumen. Consequently, they can build up and cause acidosis, which predisposes the cow to laminitis and other metabolic problems.
- Cows sorting out the goodies of a TMR (usually the fines) and rejecting the coarser materials, or if feeds are fed separately, cows eating too much of one feed and not enough of another

2 Infectious foot problems There are a variety of them

- Hairy heel wart (strawberry wart) is very contagious and very painful. As the name implies, it affects the heel of the foot.
- A variety of infectious "foot rots" can affect the tender tissue between the claws, producing swellings, characteristic odors and joint swellings.

To help prevent and control these hoof infections

- Consult your veterinarian for recommendations regarding treatments, and the use of sprays and footbaths. Footbaths, if used, should be kept clean and "properly charged" to prevent the spread of infections. If footbaths are not kept clean and "properly charged" they can spread infections to other cows and make the problem even worse.
- Keep alleys and lots well scraped so cows don't have to stand in slop.
- Fence cows away from wet sloppy areas and any other spots where organisms lurk.

3 Foot injuries

- Many abscesses in the sole of the foot are caused by small sharp objects.
- Maintain lots and walkways in good order. Groove them for good footing.
- Remove debris and sharp projections.

4 Trim feet as necessary

STATE CONVENTION

When was the last time you attended a state annual meeting? Now is the time to make plans to attend the state Holstein convention and sale. Hosts for the March 12 and 13, 1999 event will be the Howard County Holstein Club. The lovely Turf Valley Resort and Conference Center, Ellicott City, will be the site of the annual meeting, ladies program, and banquet. The youth will have their own events, including a tour to USDA, Beltsville. On Saturday, the state convention sale will be held in the large indoor facility at the Howard County fairgrounds. Details and registration forms can be found in this newsletter.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED BY-LAW CHANGE: Article IX of the by-laws concerns the order of business for Holstein meetings. The board has proposed that the election of officers be moved before the program (speaker), instead of after the program as it now stands. This change will be voted upon during the annual meeting.

MARYLAND STATE CONVENTION SALE

March 13, 1999 • 11:00 a.m. @ Howard County Fairgrounds • West Friendship, MD

Sale catalogs will be available on request after March 1st by calling Chris & Budgee Hill at 301-829-9451. There will be cattle in the sale to fit every need. Between 70 and 80 head will be sold according to sale chairman, Denny Patrick. Watch for upcoming sale ads in the February Holstein World and Southeastern Holstein News, and March Cattle Connection and Farmshine.

Other convention information

Eastern Shore Juniors Transportation to the Junior Program at Beltsville can be arranged from the Annapolis area once junior registrations are received. Juniors would then be transported to Turf Valley for the banquet, or returned to Annapolis, as necessary. Coordinate with Gail Yeiser (h) 410-315-9812 (w) 301-405-2434.

Lodging The Turf Valley Resort is convenient, but expensive, having rooms starting at $105 plus tax for a single, and $120 plus tax for a double. Phone 410-465-1500. Also nearby is the small Forest Motel at 10021 Baltimore National Pike, Ellicott City. Phone 410-465-2090. If you are coming from a long distance and wish to stay in the central MD area overnight, your best bet may be to get a room in the Frederick area.

Exhibits & Booths Interesting and educational booths will line the walls at the convention. Space is still available for those who may be considering a booth. Contact Mark Varner (301-577-7393) or Lee Majeskie (301-405-1406) right away.

A number of past MD Holstein Distinguished Junior Member record books will be on display, as well as a display of Dunloggin memorabilia.

Something new: Howard Counties are planning a "History of MD Holsteins" trivia contest. As they register, each person will be given an answer sheet. Each booth exhibitor will have questions related to the MD Holstein and Dairy Industry. As you visit the booths, you will fill in your answer sheet. The contest is open to everyone and prizes will be awarded to individuals in different age categories with the most correct answers. HAVE FUN & SEE HOW MUCH YOU KNOW ABOUT MARYLAND'S DAIRY INDUSTRY

About the speaker Dr. Tom Bailey is a veterinary reproduction specialist from the Department of Large Animal Clinical Sciences at Virginia Tech. As a dairy veterinarian, Dr. Bailey has traveled the USA and abroad, and is a veterinary consultant for Holstein USA. Dr. Bailey is actively involved in research on "Heatwatch", a computerized heat detection system, and with transvaginal follicular aspiration. Dr. Bailey is gifted with the ability to keep everyone interested, awake, and informed. Be sure to hear his talk.

Banquet entertainment Those attending the evening banquet will be treated to one of the most unique after-dinner programs in the country. Greg Claassen, ventriloquist, can make just about anything "talk." Greg makes about 120 appearances a year in the USA and Canada. He was a national finalist in the "Bob Hope Search for Top Talent Contest." In his spare time, Greg farms 2500 acres in Whitewater, Kansas, with his father and two brothers, raising mulo, wheat, soybeans, and corn. They have a farrow-to-finish hog operation, as well as feeder calves. Bring the entire family for an enjoyable evening.

Before Expo, Hog Packer Comments On Year

ensure producers are following guidelines established by the industry.

Leidy noted that the past year and a half has not been as profitable as in the several years prior. Up until this past September, the company had experienced only two profitable months in 1998 because of lack of product demand, overproduction, and competition.

On Labor Day 1998, the market dropped below 30 cents per pound. He said the company "remained sensitive to producers," indicated by the substantial increases in overages given. When the market "fell apart" in early December, he noted, Leidy's established a floor price of 18 cents.

Soon after, for a few days, the Peoria, Ill. price went to 9-10 cents, and Leidy's changed their own base price to 16 cents.

The last two weeks of December, Leidy's base was set at 23 cents. Since September, Leidy's was able to subsidize their producers more than $5 per hog.

As of Thursday, the base price was $27.92 a hundredweight — almost 28 cents a pound base.

Leidy's also pays a bonus depending on carcass evaluation.

At the top of the scale with Thursday's base price, a delivery of a 47 percent lean hog would net the producer $31.92 a hundredweight ($26.17 base plus $1.75 overbase plus an additional $4 bonus).

The formula comes from the Hennessey system, which provides a premium for value-added product. The bonus is paid on a graduated scale from a 42 percent to 47 percent lean carcass.

In the coming months, Leidy noted that he does not see any drastic recovery, unless there's "a tremendous amount of promotion of pork," he said. While some have called for more regulation of the retail part of the industry, Leidy was quick to note that regulation doesn't work in a free economy. Supply and demand will continue to dictate prices.

In the meantime, Leidy continues to offer, on a daily basis, advice for producers. A lot of that advice is provided through their hog procurement specialist, Betsy Stoltzfus.

Leidy said producers call Stoltzfus "almost daily" to make decisions on what hogs to finish, when to ship them, and for information on producing the best hogs. Leidy said a lot of their information comes from the specialists in the field, including Penn State.

For producers who want more information about where the industry is headed and how to spruce up on their management skills, there is always the Pork Expo.

The 21st annual Keystone Pork Expo is scheduled next Wednesday, Feb. 10, at the Lebanon Valley Expo Center here at the Lebanon Fairgrounds.

This year's Expo will feature a trade show with more than 40 exhibits and educational seminars for producers.

The Expo will once again sponsor a Pork Bowl contest and public speaking competition for FFA and 4-H members.

Dr. Scott Dee, an international authority on Porcine Reproductive and Respiratory Syndrome (PRRS), will provide producers with strategies for controlling PRRS in the herd. Dee has been in private practice for several years and recently accepted a position at the University of Minnesota. His insight on PRRS has been appreciated by swine producers nationwide.

Hugh Archer, deputy secretary for water management with the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), will speak on new regulatory developments. The past year has been one of new regulations on local, state, and national levels. Archer has gained respect from both producer and environmental groups for his balanced perspective and his willingness to find common solutions to concerns of large-scale agriculture.

Lou Moore, Penn State professor of agricultural economics and continuing Pork Expo favorite, will deliver his hog market outlook.

Bob Mikesell, senior extension associate at Penn State, will explain the On-Farm Odor and Environmental Assessment program he coordinates for Pennsylvania. This program, being initiated throughout the country, is sponsored by the national and Pennsylvania pork producers councils. It provides producers with an opportunity for an in-depth environmental assessment of their operations.

At the Expo will be the annual Legislative Activity Fund Auction in the West Hall. Various items will go to silent bidding. The silent bidding closes Wednesday at 1 p.m.

The junior public speaking contest begins in the West Hall at 9:30 a.m. for ages 16-19 and ages 12-15. The contest for 8-11 year-olds begins at 12:30 p.m.

The Keystone Pork Bowl begins in the West Hall at 9:30 a.m. with preliminary eliminations. Final eliminations begin at 2 p.m.

There will be complimentary coffee and doughnuts.

ing of the eggs. Temperature for proper development is 99.5 degrees F in an incubator that has a small fan and 100.5 degrees F in a still-air incubator. The acceptable range for incubation is between 97 and 102 degrees F. Overheating is more critical than underheating the eggs in regard to successful incubation. Embryonic mortality is seen if the temperature drops below 96 or above 103 degrees F.

Care should be taken to provide adequate humidity (60 percent RH). This is often measured as a wet-bulb temperature that is usually supplied by evaporation of water contained in the incubator. Ventilation is critical in allowing gas exchange (respiration) of the developing embryo. However, if too much fresh air is supplied, a consistent temperature and humidity can not be maintained. If ventilation is inadequate suffocation of the embryos may occur. Turning the eggs during incubation is critical in preventing "sticking" of the embryo to the internal egg membrane. Eggs should be turned three to five times per day during incubation except during the last three days prior to hatch.

Embryonic development may be followed by candling eggs. Candling involves putting a high intensity light source behind the egg to see if any embryonic growth can be detected. Hatchery managers will normally check eggs after 10 days of incubation. By that time you should only see the air cell illuminated in a developing egg. If the egg is infertile or has died at an early embryonic age, the whole egg will be illuminated. Those eggs that were clear or illuminated can be removed, opened and stage of development determined or confirmed that the egg was infertile.

An infertile egg has a concentrated white mass in the center of the white disc (blastodisc) on the surface of the yolk. A developing fertile egg will have either a concentric, uniform growth of white tissues or if the embryo died quite early, you will see a "donut" or opaque (clear) shaped area in the center of the blastodisc surrounded by white developing tissue. The presence of blood islands, blood vessels, or a developing embryo with a visible heart would indicate a three-day or older chick.

The first four days of incubation can be a time of high embryonic mortality (2 to 4 percent). It is the period when all critical and complex embryonic organ systems develop and connected. The incubation time of from five to twelve days is a period of growth of the embryo and the embryonic organ systems and minimal loss of embryos is normally found (0.5 percent). The last major stage of development (12 to 21 days) has the maturation of the digestive and respiratory system as well as the completion of growth. Late development is also a critical stage of development and can have a normal mortality in the range of three to five percent.

Successful hatching of birds can be very rewarding and an excellent way of training young minds on basic biological systems and the miracle of life.

Soil Nutrient Management Workshop Feb. 9

POTTSVILLE (Schuylkill Co.) — A Soil Nutrient Management Workshop will be presented by Penn State Extension including three Tuesday evening sessions, scheduled Feb. 9, and Feb. 23, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., at the Schuylkill County Ag Center.

The program is designed to be a practical clinic to prepare for planting your 1999 field crops. The discussions will cover taking and interpreting soil tests, determining crop nutrient needs, and deciding on which fertilizer products to use for optimum crop yields and profitability. Ample time will be allowed for questions and answers.

There is no registration fee but advanced registration is required so that adequate educational materials will be available. To register for more information, contact J. Allen Shoener at the Penn State/Schuylkill County Extension Office, 1202 Ag Center Drive, Pottsville, PA 17901, (570) 622-4225.

Career in Ag Night, Feb. 20

YORK (York Co.) — On Feb. 20, Penn State Cooperative Extension will sponsor a "Careers in Agriculture Night" at the York County 4-H Center.

The event will be open to all York County youth who are interested in exploring careers in the field of agriculture.

According to Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, Samuel Hayes Jr., there are more careers available now than ever before in agriculture.

The career exploration will run from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Light snacks will be served.

Career representatives will meet with young people in an informal, one-on-one situation. Representatives will be on hand to answer questions concerning financial aid.

Other careers in agriculture that will be represented include service organizations, production managers, food industry, livestock production, agricultural companies and specialty industries, to mention a few.

If you would like more information or need directions to the 4-H center, call Penn State Extension at (717) 840-7408.

$8000 In Scholarships Awarded

TUNKHANNOCK — Sire Power, Inc. awarded $8000 in scholarships to 13 students on January 20 at the cooperative's annual meeting in Grantville. "Sire Power is proud to honor these outstanding students from our membership area," said Gary Hennip, director of marketing, membership sales. "We're confident they'll make a difference in the future of agriculture."

Jessica Cochran, Westfield, received the Lew Campbell $2000 Memorial Scholarship, in honor of the former Sire Power general manager. Jessica, a first year veterinary student at Iowa State University, was accepted into the program after her third year of undergraduate study at Delaware Valley College. During her undergraduate studies, she was an All-American Scholar, on the dean's list all six semesters, involved in the DVC Dairy Society as treasurer and president, and a finalist of the homecoming court for two years. Jessica is one of 14 children. Her parents are Joseph and Brenda Cochran.

Winning $500 scholarships were:

• Emily Bryant, daughter of William and Debra Bryant, Honesdale, a junior food science major at Penn State.

• Jennifer Dotterer, daughter of Larry and Joyce Dotterer, Mill Hall, a sophomore dairy science major at Delaware Valley College.

• Liaz Haas, daughter of Gary and Lucinda Haas, Millerstown, a senior dairy and animal science major at Penn State.

• Andrew Harpster, son of Wayne and Marjorie Harpster, Spruce Creek, a senior animal science major at Cornell University.

• David Harvatine, son of Carl and Nancy Harvatine, Thompson, a junior animal science major at Cornell University.

• Kevin Harvatine, son of Paul and Susan Harvatine, Thompson, a sophomore dairy and animal science major at Penn State.

• Kathryn Jarrett, daughter of Michael and Nancy Jarrett, Montgomery, a senior animal science major at Cornell University.

• Darren Martin, son of Gerald & Carolyn Martin, Ephrata, a sophomore dairy and animal science major at Penn State.

• Heather Oberholtzer, daughter of Clair and Laverne Oberholtzer, Elizabethtown, a junior dairy and animal science major at Penn State.

• Mark Schnebly, son of William and Susan Schnebly, Clear Spring, MD, a junior agricultural business major at the University of Maryland

• Angela Werley, daughter of Phillip and Donna Werley, Hamburg, a senior dairy and animal science major at Penn State.

• Janice Youse, daughter of Paul and Linda Youse, Oley, a junior food science major at Penn State.

► Bt Corn With YieldGard® Protection

Superior drought and stress tolerance package with high, stable yield performance has made N4640Bt a favorite with Northeastern growers. With European corn borer protection, this hybrid performs north and south with excellent stalk quality and ear retention to support grain harvest. N4640Bt is a hybrid of choice throughout the Northeast!

N7639Bt RM: 115

► Bt Corn With YieldGard® Protection

This newer corn borer protected hybrid fits the needs of growers who are looking for the hybrid for Mid-Atlantic conditions. Its strong stalks support a plant with excellent foliar disease resistance making N7639Bt one of the top choices for gray spot areas. With exciting top-end yield potential, N7639Bt is the hybrid with a "growing" presence throughout the Mid-Atlantic.

Two of many NK® Brand hybrids adapted for the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic.

INNOVATION

NOVARTIS

Today you compete in a world that challenges your mind more than your body. Farming is no longer a local business. To succeed on a global level, you need the support of a global company. Which means you must use more and more innovative means to compete and to produce your crops efficiently. That is why Novartis Agribusiness invests over $500 million in research annually. Here are some of the brands currently brought to you by Novartis:

Here are some of the current and pending NK® Brand innovations which give you the sophisticated choices you need to grow profitably now:

Sweets for the Sweet

A Foolproof Way to Win Hearts this Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day is a day set aside to show the special ones in your life just how much you care. What better way to show your affection than with homemade indulgent treats. So decadent and delicious that your valentines will think your treats are from a premium chocolate shop, and more importantly, your special ones will know just how much they mean to you.

Try one of these fun valentine ideas, and treat family, friends and/or coworkers to a special gift from the heart and hands. Treats so easy, even children can create them and be the cupids of their class.

Whether a heart-shaped brownie or cheesecake bar, decadent truffles, chocolate fondue or cappuccino frost, the object of your affection is sure to be charmed and impressed with these unique, homemade gifts that echo an early 1900 valentine's sentiment, "My thoughts are all of thee."

Triple Chocolate Valentine Brownies

Prep Time 15 minutes Makes 12 (3-inch) hearts

- |                                                                 |                                                    |
| 1 1/4 cups unsifted flour, divided usage                        | 1 egg                                              |
| 1/4 cup sugar                                                   | 1 teaspoon vanilla extract                         |
| 1/2 cup cold butter                                             | 1/2 teaspoon baking powder                         |
| 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk) | 1 (8-ounce) milk chocolate bar, broken into chunks |
| 1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa                                       | 3/4 cup chopped nuts (optional)                    |

- Preheat oven to 350°F. Line 13x9-inch baking pan with heavy foil, set aside.
- In medium bowl, combine 1 cup flour and sugar, cut in butter until crumbly. Press on bottom of baking pan. Bake 15 minutes.
- In large bowl, beat sweetened condensed milk, cocoa, egg, remaining 1/4 cup flour, vanilla and baking powder. Mix in chocolate chunks and nuts. Spread over prepared crust. Bake 20 minutes or until set.
- Cool. Use foil to lift out of pan. For hearts, cut with heart-shaped cookie cutter, or with knife, cut around waxed paper heart shape. Or cut into bars. Store tightly covered. Decorate bars with white icing or gels if desired.

Decadent Chocolate Truffles

Prep Time 10 minutes Makes about 6 dozen truffles

- |                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                |
| 3 cups (18 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate chips                                                | Finely chopped toasted nuts, flaked coconut, chocolate sprinkles, colored sprinkles, unsweetened cocoa, confectioners' sugar or colored sugars |
| 1 (14-ounce) can original or creamy chocolate sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk) |                                                                                                                                                |
| 1 tablespoon vanilla extract                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                |

- In saucepan, over low heat, melt chips with sweetened condensed milk. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla.
- Chill 2 hours or until firm. Shape into 1-inch balls, roll in any of the listed coatings.
- Chill 1 hour or until firm. Store tightly covered.

Marbled Cheesecake Hearts

Prep Time: 20 minutes Makes about 12 (3-inch) hearts

- |                                                                                  |                                                                 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| 2 cups finely crushed cream-filled chocolate sandwich cookies (about 24 cookies) | 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk) |
| 3 tablespoons butter melted                                                      | 3 eggs                                                          |
| 3 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese, softened                                      | 2 teaspoons vanilla extract                                     |
|                                                                                  | 2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate, melted               |

- Preheat oven to 300°F. Line 13x9-inch baking pan with heavy foil; set aside.
- Combine crumbs and butter; press firmly on bottom of foil-lined pan. With mixer, beat cream cheese in large bowl until fluffy. Gradually beat in sweetened condensed milk until smooth. Add eggs and vanilla; mix well. Pour half the batter evenly over prepared crust.
- Stir melted chocolate into remaining batter, spoon over vanilla batter. With table knife or metal spatula, gently swirl chocolate batter through vanilla batter to marble.
- Bake 45 to 50 minutes or until set. Cool. Chill at least 1 hour. Use foil to lift out of pan. For hearts, cut with heart-shaped cookie cutter, or with knife, cut around waxed paper heart shape. Or cut into bars. Store covered in refrigerator.

Chocolate-Caramel Fondue

Prep Time 5 minutes Makes 2 1/2 cups

- |                                                                 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk) |
| 1 (12 1/4-ounce) jar caramel ice cream topping                  |
| 3 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate, chopped              |
- Dippers: Cookies, fruit slices, berries, pound cake squares, angel food cake pieces and/or dried apricots

- In medium saucepan, combine sweetened condensed milk, caramel topping and chocolate.
- Cook and stir over low heat until chocolate melts.
- Pour into serving bowl or individual cups. Serve with desired dippers.

Tips to Make Desserts Extra Special

- ♥ Fun Gift Giving Ideas: To create a fun gift box to showcase your homemade treats, simply take any small box or container, wrap with decorative paper or have kids decorate with crayons or stickers.
- ♥ Heart Shapes: To cut bars in a heart shape, use a heart-shaped cookie cutter, or simply cut around a wax paper heart shape with a knife.
- ♥ Dress Up Your Drinks: Top beverages like Cappuccino Frost with whipped topping.

5-A-Day for Better Health!

Since 1992, the National 5-A-Day Program has encouraged Americans to increase their daily fruit and vegetable intake to 5-9 servings. Currently, the average American is consuming only two and a half servings of vegetables per day. The program recommends eating daily servings of vitamin C-rich and cruciferous vegetables. Beta carotene - rich, leafy greens should be incorporated into the diet every other day. Adding more fruits and vegetables into the diet will promote good health.

If the concept of eating five servings of fruits and vegetables daily seems overwhelming, it may be easier to think of it as just including one produce item in your breakfast, lunch, dinner and two different snacks. Here are some suggestions to help you meet this challenging task.

Breakfast: 1. Wake up to a cold glass of orange, grapefruit or tomato juice. 2. Slice a banana into a bowl of cold cereal. 3. Sprinkle raisins into a bowl of oatmeal with cinnamon. 4. Top pancakes or toaster waffles with frozen berries or canned fruit. 5. Sprinkle frozen (thawed) or fresh berries on low-fat yogurt.

Lunch: 1. Top off a sandwich with lettuce, tomato, sprouts, or onion. 2. Serve a side of canned peaches or baked beans with lunch. 3. Enjoy some vegetable, tomato, broccoli, or lentil soup. 4. Pack a pita pocket bread with tuna salad and your favorite veggies. 5. Toss up a pasta salad with some peppers, onions, and tomatoes.

Snacks: 1. Spread peanut butter on banana or apple slices. 2. Pack dried fruit, like raisins, apricots, or fruit bits, into trail mix. 3. Fill celery sticks with light cream cheese or peanut butter. 4. Refresh yourself with a glass of spicy vegetable juice on the rocks. 5. Dip baby carrots and broccoli florets into low-fat Ranch dressing.

Dinner: 1. Top off your cheese pizza with peppers, onions, or pineapple. 2. Stir-fry fresh or frozen vegetables with lean meat or poultry. 3. Add frozen broccoli, green beans, corn, or peas to a casserole. 4. Add a side or two of vegetables, try one of the new frozen blends. 5. Garnish your fish or chicken with a slice of canned pineapple. Fruits and vegetables provide many valuable resources to our bodies to promote good health. Fruits are excellent sources of vitamin C, beta carotene, and potassium. They also contain bioflavonoids which protect against cancer and other diseases.

Vegetables are similar in that they too contain many vitamins - A, C, E, folate, and other B vitamins, plus the bioflavonoids to prevent disease. Fruits and vegetables are also high-fiber, low-calorie foods which can act as a quick source of energy for the body.

All of these benefits are available to you simply by increasing your daily fruit and vegetable intake!

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards) Joyce Bupp

A shaft of sunlight streams through the opened back door, splashing its glow across the kitchen floor, highlighting the dust and barn dirt which gathers, even as I sweep similar debris out the front door.

Stretched to her length in the sunshine-spot is Monk, our senior-citizen housecat, snoozing the morning away in the warmth. Usually the closed doors prevent Monk from enjoying one of her favorite comfort zones. But when the weather is mild, the sun floods the back porch, and the woodstove is well stoked, I prop open the inside back door so the sunshine can beam in through the storm door glass.

That shaft of sunlight is not only welcomed for this cheerfulness, but also because Monk is enticed to snooze somewhere other than whatever chair I'm trying to use. If I have paper work strewn across the kitchen table, she wants the cushioned kitchen chair. If I'm working at the computer, she wants the cushioned office chairs. We wage this chair-ownership power struggle endlessly, this cat and I.

But she'll abandon all soft, cushioned furniture to sprawl across the sun-warmed floor when the wintry sunbeams pour in. Of course, then I trip over her.

On the other hand, if the stove is burning low and the house chilly, old Monk will lay claim to one of the floor vents directing the heat upstairs front the woodstove. While that maneuver keeps her toasty, it effectively blocks the warm air from its intended purpose.

Of all domestic critters, cats are about the most clever and creative in finding select creature comfort zones. The barn cats are equally adept with this instinct.

Midnight, the black stray who adopted us and now owns the back porch, wisely found warmer quarters when the temperatures dropped toward the single digits, he snagged squatter's rights to the concrete-walled understory of the heifer's feed trough, a proverbial snug-as-a-bug-in-a-rug spot for cats.

Numerous mother cats over the years have used this spacious, warm, hidden quarters as a nursery. Fat mice sometimes visit the feed and hay inches away, and fresh milk and cat food supplies are provided regularly. A couple of conveniently poked holes made to repair water leaks offer Midnight limited entrance, and make it easy to keep potential, but unwanted, cat roommates at bay.

Meanwhile, our native feline barn felines favor the haymow overhead, with plentiful nooks and crannies in which to curl up in secluded darkness. At feeding time, they appear from all directions, yawning and stretching like they've been snoozing since the last feeding. Which they probably have.

Except for Diamond (a loveable calico with a black diamond-shaped marking) who makes herself at home in any and all of these places, on constant alert to what's happening. Every morning she leaps up to the four-foot-high windowsill at the calf barn sink while I'm filling calf bottles, to peer through the glass and deliver an eye-level guilt trip that I still haven't fed her.

For half-pint-cat Miss Calico and her sidekick, Pest, nothing beats the dairy barn utility room for comfort on a cold morning. Motors from the milking system and milk cooling compressors keep the small room warm on even bitter days. Snagging the top of the hot water heat for a nap is an additional plus for these two. While

Miss Calico is one of our premier mousers and can do just about whatever she wants, her affinity for leaving muddy footprints on the barn desk records sometimes earns her a trip back up to the calf barn.

Some of the cows, likewise, are skilled at snagging the cushiest bedding areas. They seek out the thickest straw or sawdust of fodder, though differences might not be discernible to us. In fact, some of the girls always manage to keep themselves relatively neat and their udders reasonably clean and dry, while a few in the herd inevitably look like (hog farmers, forgive me) pigs.

Newborn baby calves in the boxstalls instinctively know to curl up in the softest, driest corner. And often their older cousins will stand in their individual pens, patiently waiting for fresh bedding, then flop down almost before it hits the bedding pack.

All critters need, and seek out, certain comforts.

Like people, though, some are just better at it than others.

Seamstress Is Runner-Up In National Competition

GAY BROWNLEE

Somerset Co. Correspondent
ELVERSON (Berks Co.) — Jessica Coriell had a wonderful experience at the Make It Yourself With Wool National Competition. The 23-year-old, who had never before competed in a contest, was named the second runner-up when the event on January 7-9 was held in Denver, Colorado.

She said in a recent telephone conversation that she had tried to appear stunning at all times during the weekend because Jodell Antram, Somerset, the state director and her adviser had suggested it.

"One of my goals was to look like I walked out of SAKS Fifth Avenue," happily recalled the state representative named on Oct. 17 at the Galleria Mall in Johnstown, Cambria County, where the state competition was held at Boscov's Department Store.

Fashionability, after all, had counted for 60 percent of the final score, followed by 40 percent for the garment's construction.

For her pinstripe suit in a brown wool, Coriell blended two patterns to create a full-lined suit that featured a mink collar on the jacket and a slender skirt with a straight slit.

Combining the patterns, given the difficulty of matching delicate pinstripes, was understandably a challenge, as she acknowledged.

But with meticulous care, it was managed for the elegant and sophisticated effect that was intended from the outset.

She comes honestly by the pride evidenced in the care the future tailor gives to her work. It has evolved from an expert in the family — Maria Coriell, her grandmother.

With needles and thread, excellence only is demanded by Mrs. Coriell who has been a professional tailor for many years.

"Looking over her shoulder is how I learned to do it," reported the granddaughter who gives the overall credit for her success to the Lord.

She is the middle daughter of three born to Ron and Rebekah Coriell, taking her place between Jennifer, 25, and Johanna, 21.

"For me it's kind of carrying on a heritage," Jessica said, thoughtfully, recalling how first, she learned to make clothes for dolls.

As her skills developed, more difficult projects were tackled such as skirts, vests, etcetera.

Her valuable gifts included a serger donated by Simplicity Patterns, Inc.; a $125 savings bond from Superior Farms; a sewing book from Fairchild Books and Visuals, and fabric from Burlington Menswear.

Heidi Shryock from Clearview, Bedford County, the Pennsylvania junior winner, also participated at the event.

While there, the contestants could choose from various work shops, those they wanted to attend.

Antram reported that Brother International demonstrated sewing and knitting on its sewing machine.

AAA Sewing and Vacuum was sponsored by PFAFF. It showed how simple life can be for the serious seamstress and tailor with an ultra-modern iron and ironing board.

Nowadays, the material that always drove them crazy by sliding away, won't slide anymore thanks to suction used in the ironing board itself.

Jessica Coriell, Elverson, standing center, with her parents Ron and Rebekah Coriell, was named the second runner-up in the Make It Yourself With Wool National Competition.

Heidi Shryock, Clearview, the Pennsylvania junior winner, and Jessica Coriell, Elverson, the senior winner in Make It Yourself With Wool recently returned from the national competition held Jan. 7-9 in Denver, Colorado. They appear in the garments constructed by themselves for the wool competition.

A study in Danish knitted lace was offered as well as contour sewing demonstrations.

Make It Yourself With Wool was held in conjunction with the American Sheep Industry's annual convention and business meeting.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

Winter mornings, when I awaken, there is not a necessity to hurry and pick the peas, husk the sweet corn or even can tomatoes. Instead there are lots of little things to do, and I can do them at my leisure.

I've been embroidering a pillowcase and also sorting wool garments to start another braided rug. Even the house gets some extra cleaning as we noticed that some logs were a bit dusty. It often takes two people to move some of the heavy furniture, and my husband now has time to help me.

Winter is also a time for annual meetings. Then we have a chance to eat away from home. Last week we ate out three times which is unusual for us. One meeting was held at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster. Another was a luncheon at an inn west of Lancaster where my high school class got together, while still another outing was a celebration of our anniversary. This year it rained instead of snowed as it did the day that we got married.

One is never bored as lots of little things come up unexpectedly. Someone's car won't start and can we meet the school bus? Or, can I babysit for a few hours in the morning? We are always glad to help as someday we may need help too.

Recently, I bought two nice flower plants. One came from the Pa. Farm Show and was called a "walking iris." I've had a similar plant for decades but finally only a tiny one was growing. I do raise my own plants but occasionally add a new one like the large ficus that I saw when I went with my husband to a farm store. You never know what you'll see that interests you.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send an SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, and cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — M. Martin, Ephrata, would like to know how to make tomato paste using 100-percent tomatoes.

QUESTION — M. Martin, Ephrata, would like to know how to make condensed milk and evaporated milk.

QUESTION — Eleanor Kisner, Muncy, would like a recipe for Italian Wedding Soup.

QUESTION — Sherry Rechlin, N. Franklin, Ct., would like a recipe for farmer's cheese and for clotted cream.

QUESTION — Bonnie Gible, Ono, would like healthy recipes with nutritional counts.

QUESTION — Martha Gerber, Littlestown, is looking honey/mustard pretzels that taste similar to those made by Snyders.

QUESTION — M. Root, Manheim, would like a recipe for Sand Art Brownies, a quart jar filled with dry ingredients layered in a jar to look like sand art. Ingredients include chocolate chips, white chocolate chips, and walnuts.

QUESTION — Lynn Rossi, Lititz, would like a recipe for marinated mushrooms, which are made without cooking oil and sold by S. Clyde Weaver, East Petersburg.

QUESTION — Mrs. Dale Burkhart, Narvon, misplaced a recipe for a seasoning mixture to rub into beef roast before roasting. She recalls that some of the ingredients included instant coffee granules, beef bouillon, salt and pepper.

QUESTION — Edna Leinbach, Loysville, writes that when cold raw milk is added to a hot fruit dessert such as peach of cherry cobbler, it curdles. Is there anything that can be added to the dessert to avoid this?

QUESTION — Darwin Moyer, Johnstown, would like a recipe for the beef and lamb mixture used to make Greek Gyro sandwiches. How is the meat ground and pressed and what spices are added to the mixture?

QUESTION — Anna Showalter, Weyers Cave, Va., would appreciate a pork roll bologna recipe that tastes like that made in Lancaster County.

QUESTION — Herman Ikeler, Bloomsburg, would like a recipe for dried cured pepperoni.

QUESTION — Janet Huber, Williamstown, wants a recipe for chocolate banana cookies.

QUESTION — A long time reader from Ticonderoga, N.Y., would like recipes that use northern-hardy kiwi, which is small and grapesized with a smooth skin. It grows on clusters of vines.

QUESTION — A Shippensburg reader would like a recipe for corn crackles.

ANSWER — Nancy Kring, Cairnbrook, wanted a recipe for chess pies that contain raisins and walnuts and are baked in a muffin tin. Thanks to E.J. Beaver, Ringtown, for sending in this recipe.

Chess Tarts

Line 12 three-inch muffin tins with your favorite pie crust recipe. Prick the pie shells. Bake them in 500-degree oven for 10 minutes. Cool.

Mixture filling:

Sift 1 cup sugar.

Beat ½ cup butter until soft and add sugar gradually. Blend until creamy, then add one at a time:

2 or 3 eggs

1 teaspoon vanilla OR 2 tablespoons lemon juice

¼ cup thick cream

1 cup chopped walnuts

1½ cups raisins soaked in boiling water for 30 minutes and drained well.

Fill the shells with this mixture. Bake in 325 degree oven until filling is firm. Cool in pans. Serve topped with whipped cream.

ANSWER — Thanks to an Ephrata reader for sending in these recipes for pressure canning that had been requested by another reader.

Meat Loaf To Can

15 pounds ground beef

½ cup salt

4 eggs

3 cups water, milk or tomato juice

4 slices bread, dried or crumbled

36 saltine crackers, crushed

1 cup oatmeal

1 teaspoon pepper

1 onion, grated

Mix and pack into canning jars. Process under 10 pounds pressure 75 minutes for pint jars or 90 minutes for quarts.

Vegetable Soup To Can

1 quart potatoes

1 quart carrots

1 quart green beans

1 quart corn

1 quart onions

1 quart celery

1 quart alphabet macaroni

3 pounds ground beef, browned

5 quarts tomato juice

2 quarts V-8 juice

½ cup brown sugar

2 tablespoons chili powder

3 tablespoons beef bouillon powder

Cook all vegetables separately and drain. Add prepared vegetables to boiling tomato juice. Mix all together. Add chili powder, brown sugar, bouillon powder, and salt to taste.

Fill 15 quart jars. Pressure cook at 10 pounds for 45 minutes.

Canned Meatballs

15 pounds ground beef

8 tablespoons salt

4 cups oatmeal

1 teaspoon black pepper

1 onion, chopped

2 cups tomato juice

Mix well. Roll into balls of desired size. Bake until browned.

This will keep balls from sticking together in jars. Put into jars. Pressure can 10 pounds pressure for 1½ hours.

Spaghetti sauce or barbecue sauce may be added to jars before processing. These meatballs are really good served with spaghetti.

Homemade Baked Beans

1 pound navy beans

Add 2 tablespoons bacon fat

1 cup bacon bits

1 onion, chopped

1½ teaspoons salt

1 small can tomato juice

¾ cup brown sugar

¼ cup pancake syrup

1½ cups catsup

¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Wash beans and bring to a boil. Turn off let set one hour. Boil until tender about 45 minutes. Pour off water then add remaining ingredients and bring to a boil, then cool to can. Process pints in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 10 minutes.

Canned Chili Soup

10 pounds dried kidney beans

8 pounds ground beef

12 quarts tomato juice

Add to taste:

brown sugar

chili powder

salt

black pepper

onion

garlic salt

Soak beans overnight. Cook until soft. Fry ground beef and pour off fat. Add tomato juice, brown sugar, chili powder, salt, pepper, onion, and garlic salt. Heat.

If desired, soup can be thickened before putting in jars or after opening jars. Pressure can for 10 minutes.

Beef Barbecue

10 pounds ground beef

5 chopped onions

½ cup salt

1½ tablespoons black pepper

1 cup vinegar

¾ cup mustard

1½ cups brown sugar

¾ cup Worcestershire sauce

5 cups catsup

Brown ground beef and onion. Add remaining ingredients and 4 cups beef broth or water. Steam 10 minutes. Put in jars. Pressure can for 10 minutes.

Sweets

PEANUT BUTTER MARBLED BROWNIES

1 cup butter, melted

2 cups sugar

2 teaspoons vanilla extract

3 eggs

¼ cup baking cocoa

1¼ cups flour

½ teaspoon baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt

1 cup milk chocolate chips

Peanut butter filling:

In a small bowl, beat together until smooth and creamy:

6-ounces softened cream cheese

¼ cup peanut butter

¼ cup sugar

1 egg

2 tablespoons milk

Heat oven to 350 degrees.

Grease 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Prepare peanut butter filling. Stir together butter, sugar, and vanilla. Add eggs, beat well. Add cocoa, beat until well blended. Add flour, baking powder, and salt; beat well. Stir in chocolate chips. Remove one cup batter. Pour remaining batter into pan. Spread peanut butter filling over surface. Drop reserved chocolate batter by teaspoonfuls over filling. Using knife, gently swirl for a marbled effect. Bake 35 to 40 minutes. Can be cut into squares or heart-shape with cookie cutter and is good served with whipped cream.

HOMEMADE PEPPERMINT PATTIES

3 ounces cream cheese, softened

¼ pound butter

½ can sweetened condensed milk

2½ pounds confectioners' sugar

1 teaspoon peppermint flavoring

Chocolate pieces to melt for covering

Mix all ingredients in a large mixing bowl. Chill until cold. Form small-sized patties with a melon scoop or with your hands. Dip in melted chocolate and let set until firm. Serve as an after dinner mint or just to enjoy anytime of the day. They can be boxed for that special valentine gift, too.

These are not hard to make and might impress your loved one that you took the time to make something instead of buying it.

MACADAMIA NUT FUDGE

2 cups sugar

2 squares unsweetened chocolate

Dash salt

1 cup light cream OR half and half

2 tablespoons light corn syrup

¼ cup butter

¾ cup coarsely chopped macadamia nuts

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Butter 9x5-inch loaf pan; set aside. Combine sugar, chocolate, and salt in a 3-quart microwave-safe mixing bowl or casserole. Stir in cream and corn syrup; add butter. Microwave, covered, on high 5 minutes. Mix well. Microwave, uncovered, 10 to 14 minutes or until soft ball stage is reached (234-240 degrees). Cool mixture without stirring to 120 degrees at edges. Add nuts and vanilla. Beat until mixture is thick and creamy and starts to lose its shine. Quickly spread in pan. (If fudge is too thick to spread, stir in a few drops of cream). Cool completely. Cut into one-inch square pieces. Store in airtight container in cool, dry place for up to two weeks.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Martha Lair, Oxford, wrote that her mother used to cook cake icing in the 1940s. She remembers it being much better than that made with powdered sugar. She wanted a recipe for cooked chocolate icing. Thanks to Mollie Kanagy, Mifflintown, for sending this recipe that she writes is a shiny, smooth icing that is not overly sweet and easy to make.

Easy Chocolate Frosting

1 cup white sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ tablespoons baking cocoa
Mix and add 1 cup boiling water. Boil a few minutes, stirring constantly, until thick, stir in 1 teaspoon butter. Cool and frost.

Here's two recipes from E.J. Beaver, Ringtown.

Chocolate Frosting

1 square baking chocolate
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
½ tablespoon vanilla

Cook together chocolate, granulated sugar, and water, stirring until mixture is smooth and glossy. Beat the white of the egg enough to thin but not frothy; add the confectioners' sugar, stir until smooth and light. Add the chocolate mixture and vanilla. Cool before spreading on the cake.

Glossy Chocolate Icing

Melt in top of double boiler:
3 ounces chocolate
1 well-beaten egg
¾ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup water
1 cup sugar

Cook icing over hot water for 20 minutes. Remove from steam. Beat with a mixer for one minute or until well blended. Stir in:

1 teaspoon vanilla

Cool the icing before spreading on cake. Makes enough to cover two 8-inch layers. If kept tightly covered in refrigerator, it will keep several days.

Thanks to Fran Westfall, New Oxford, for sending this old recipe that she writes tastes like whipped cream.

Flour Icing

1 cup milk
1 tablespoon flour

Heat in a saucepan and mix with spoon until smooth and thick. Let cool. It will look like paste. Combine the following:

1 cup sugar
½ cup shortening
½ cup butter
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix well until blended. Add flour and milk mixture and beat on high speed until it looks like whipped cream.

ANSWER — Nancy Koons, Lebanon, wanted a recipe for coconut macaroons. Thanks to Pat Elligson, Millers, Md., who sent in this recipe.

Coconut Macaroons

Beat until fluffy (about ½ minute):

½ cup egg whites

Stir in:

1¼ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Blend in:

2½ cups moist shredded coconut

Drop rounded teaspoonfuls 2-inches apart on ungreased baking sheet covered with parchment paper. Bake until delicately browned at 325 degrees, about 15-18 minutes.

The cookies spread so when you remove from the oven, use your fingers to push in edges to shape into mounds. Makes 2½ dozen 1½-inch macaroons.

If the macaroons are difficult to remove from paper, place a wet towel beneath the hot parchment sheet with the macaroons still on it. Let stand one minute. Steam will loosen the macaroons. Slip off with spatula.

John Deere Advantage Series Tractors

Made to lift, steer, and brake like no other tractors in this class

When you compare the HydraVantage™ hydraulics on John Deere Advantage Series Tractors with low-cost competitive models, you'll quickly see there is no comparison.

That's because HydraVantage hydraulics are load-sensing — rather than traditional open- or closed-center — with a constant-flow pump to better power multiple hydraulic functions at the same time. So you'll always have enough steering and braking power while moving the heaviest loads.

HydraVantage hydraulics provide 17.5 gpm of flow (standard) for quick response and fast cycle times, a standard electrohydraulic hitch control for precise positioning, and enough lift muscle to easily move heavy hitch-mounted implements.

Compare all of this with ordinary tractors, and the choice is clear. For just a little more, you get a lot more with an Advantage. See your John Deere dealer today for all the details on the 85-hp 6405, 95-hp 6605, and 105-hp 7405 Tractors.

Don't worry about gray on old chocolate

I rarely use the unsweetened chocolate in my cupboard, and now I find that it's got this gray stuff on the surface. Is it still OK to use?

Please, don't even think about throwing away perfectly good chocolate! The gray color is purely superficial, it's caused by storing chocolate in too-warm or too-humid conditions. The color will disappear when you heat the chocolate to melt it.

All types of chocolate should be stored in a cool, dry place. If the temperature in your cupboard is going to get much warmer than 78 degrees, you might want to refrigerate chocolate for storage.

Before doing so, though, wrap it tightly in foil and seal it in a plastic freezer storage bag to prevent the chocolate from absorbing odors from other foods.

Unsweetened chocolate is the purest form of chocolate. It's about 50 percent cocoa butter, which gives it its smooth texture. Milk chocolate, on the other hand, is only about 10 percent pure chocolate, with sugar, milk solids and extra cocoa butter added. Other types of chocolate include sweet chocolate, which is about 15 percent pure chocolate, and semisweet chocolate, which is about 35 percent pure chocolate. White chocolate is made with sugar, cocoa butter, dry milk solids and flavorings.

If a recipe calls for unsweetened chocolate and you don't have any on hand, you can substitute 3 tablespoons cocoa powder plus 1 tablespoon shortening or cooking oil for each 1-ounce square the recipe calls for. To make semisweet chocolate from unsweetened chocolate, add one tablespoon of sugar for each ounce of chocolate.

No matter what kind of chocolate you like, you can count on about 115 calories per ounce. Most types of chocolate also contain 9 or 10 grams of fat, although unsweetened chocolate contains 15 grams of fat per ounce. An ounce of cocoa contains about 70 calories and 5 grams of fat.

Top Tomato Growers Receive State Awards

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) —
Cliff Charles of Lancaster County knows how to raise tomatoes.

Not just any tomato, but the highest quality and lots of it.

Not only does he harvest 2,835 tons annually, but most of those are top grade.

In recognition of Charles' consistent production, he received the first-ever Master Grower of the Year Award at the Tomato Awards
Luncheon last week during the Mid-Atlantic Fruit and Vegetable Convention in Hershey.

"He is consistently in front for several years," said James Kohl of Furman Foods, which with the help of Pennsylvania State University Cooperative Extension Service sponsors the awards.

The State Champion Tomato Growers' Club annually recognizes growers who produce outstanding yields of tomatoes for processing.

Winners are determined by reports submitted by processors based on the growers' entire acreage that has been measured by the fieldman or representative of the extension. Total yield is the net weight of usable tomatoes delivered to the processing plant and does not include the weights of culls.

Awards are broken into categories based on the amount of acreage devoted to tomato production.

In addition to being named "Master Grower," Charles also received the Grower Award for Master Grower of the Year is Cliff Charles, left. James Kohl, who presented the award, said Charles was selected for consistently producing top quality tomatoes on 80 acres.

those competing in the 60- to 100-acre category. After grading, the Charles farm yielded an average of 24.06 tons of grade A fruit per acre.

Of his accomplishment, Charles said, "I guess it's paying attention to details — spraying at the right times and stuff."

He also attributes the dry weather of 1988 to producing healthy tomatoes.

Ike Martin, in charge of the fields for Furman Farms, topped the 100-plus acreage category.

"It's not a one-man operation," said Martin, who oversees a team of workers that harvested 5,918 tons of tomatoes on 219.2 acres.
After grading, Furman Farms yielded an average of 15.48 tons of grade A fruit per acre.

Camerer Farms, Inc. located in Jersey Shore, Clinton County, won the award for the highest tomato yield in the 45 to 59-acre division.
They harvested 2002.3 tons of fruit on 53 acres for a 37.8 tons per acre average yield. After grading,
Camerer Farms yielded an average 22.37 tons of A grade fruit per acre.

Another Clinton County farm took first place in tomato yields.
Ramm Farms of Lock Haven placed first in the 30- to 40-acre division. They harvested 1,474 tons of tomatoes on 38 acres for a 38.8 ton per acre average yield.
After grading, Ramm Farms yielded an average of 21.6 tones of
A grade fruit per acre.

Clinton County must have the soil and conditions conducive for tomato growth. Another Clinton countian, Dale Peters, took first place in the 15- to 29-acre division.
He harvested 1,131.5 tons of tomatoes on 28.4 acres for a 27.15 tons per average yield. After grading, the farm yielded an impressive 27.15 tons of A grade fruit per acre.

Orville Schultz of Danville, Montour County, took first place in the 15-acre and less category.
Schultz harvested 482.1 tons on 14.4 acres for 33.48 tons per acre average yield. After grading, the

Cut faster, condition better

For greater maneuverability and higher efficiency, nothing beats the Model 1431 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner from New Holland. It features a 13' cutting width, and operates at high ground speeds in wet, heavy grass without plugging. Fire anthills and gopher mounds won't stop the new Model 1431 either.

Outstanding features include:

- A center pivot-tongue design
- Independent modular cutterbar with ten small-diameter cutting discs
- 102" wide conditioning rolls
- A full range of vertical and lateral flotation
- A torsion-bar roll-pressure system
- A cutterbar driven from both ends

For maximum harvesting efficiency, check out the Model 1431 Discbine. It's the best in the field.

Buyers And Growers Examine Supermarket, Chain Store Contracting

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Growers and buyers compared notes at the Mid-Atlantic Fruit and Vegetable Convention last week here at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center.

A panel presenting both buyer and grower viewpoints included James Hensel, buyer for Oregon Farm Dairy; Charles Breneman, buyer for Weis Markets; Richard Stauffer, buyer for Four Seasons Produce; Ronald Copenhagen, Lebanon County grower, and David Miller, York County grower.

"It's important to have a marketing contract before you grow the produce. Don't suddenly show up at the door to sell a truckload," said Hensel.

He suggests contacting buyers a year in advance to find out how the supermarket wants things packed, the quality expected, and the delivery process.

Copenhagen, who grows 70 acres of peas and double-crops other vegetables, said, "Chain stores never pay the highest prices, but they don't pay the lowest either when the bottom drops out of the market."

Growers should space out plantings as much as possible to stretch the length of time in supplying local supermarkets with produce.

Hensel said that a grower supplied him with 1,500 heads of broccoli from September through Christmas.

"Communicate often with the buyer. If it rained 10 days and you can't deliver, tell him as soon as possible," Hensel said.

Breneman said that Weis Markets has 160 stores and they prefer to deal with local agriculturalists. Even if you are told "no" one time, check periodically with the buyer.

Breneman said that he is aware that growing conditions can hinder quality, but the store must provide top-quality produce to consumers.

Produce coming in must pass standards by a trained USDA inspector. The delivery will be turned down if it is not packed according to terms adhered to in the contract.

Breneman recommends that growers invest in a refrigeration unit if needed to maintain quality of products until they reach the market.

Stauffer said that Four Season Produce supplies 250 Pennsylvania stores and 600 stores along the eastern seaboard. They prefer new boxes be used in place of bins and that items such as asparagus be placed in one-pound bundles. Don't mix grades and sizes. More and more buyers are demanding consistent quality with the same packaging they would receive if ordered from California.

Ronald Copenhagen grows 70 acres of peas in Lebanon County and double-crops with other vegetables.

As a Christian, he said that he strives to maintain honesty in all dealings. Sometimes beans look wonderful, but Copenhagen believes that a buyer should be warned that they won't maintain the quality if they had been picked after lots of rain.

Unlike many growers, Copenhagen said that he plants a crop and then prays for a market. He cautioned against promising to supply too many stores and not being able to deliver.

On the other hand, if Copenhagen promises to supply a store, he will grow more than what he has committed to in order to compensate for bad weather.

"It's better to plow some under than not have enough," Copenhagen said.

"I do whatever it takes to accommodate a buyer. If beans aren't growing fast enough, I'll pick one-fourth of a crop rather than the whole one in order to have enough beans. But if you pick too young, you can kill the next yield."

Growers often need to meet buyers' odd delivery times. Many want delivery in the morning. This requires farmers to pick the crop the day before. It's also stressful to wait in line for several hours until the trucks ahead of you unload, Copenhagen said.

Growers and buyers held a panel discussion on selling to supermarkets and chains. From left are Ronald Copenhagen, David Miller, and Richard Stauffer.

Some stores require growers to carry liability insurance. Miller said that it costs him $150 to $220 per year to carry a $1 million-$2 million liability policy.

Miller grows cantaloupes, watermelons, and sweet corn in York County for several chains, roadside stands, and local groceries.

"I'm not an expert, but what works for us is quality, constant supply, uniformity in product, dependability, honesty, and communication."

Although it is difficult to provide constant uniformity, Miller believes in doing everything possible. He uses drip irrigation.

"Leave smalls and seconds in the field. It's hard to do, but the only way to uphold quality," Miller said.

Sweet corn especially needs to be top quality with no worms, no seconds, and the right age.

Both Miller and Copenhagen appreciate the stability in pricing that contracts offer.

From the buyers' viewpoint,

Breneman said that he sees increasing opportunities for growers because customers want local produce as fresh as possible.

Top Tomato Growers

Schultz farm yielded an average of 18.17 tons of A grade fruit per acre.

"The tomato industry has had its ups and downs, but the last few years, significant improvements in quality has been accomplished," said Kohl.

He attributed quality improvements not only to growers' efforts but also to Pik Rite for developing a portable harvester to work on the eastern seaboard. Pik Rite received the Industry of the Year Award for its diligence in harvesting development and for helping to advance the tomato industry.

This year, grower award winners received jackets instead of engraved plaques for their accomplishments.

Announcing the publication of Pictorial History of Eastern American Agriculture During the 20th Century

Recalling our Eastern U.S. agricultural heritage, a new book entitled 100 Years of Eastern American Agriculture (a pictorial review), will be published by Lancaster Farming in time for Christmas giving and the millennium celebration. This work will feature several hundred photographs that show life on the farm from 1901 through the 1990's. Lancaster Farming is commencing work on this pictorial history right now, but we need your help.

WE NEED YOUR HELP...

If you have photographs of bygone days that show old agriculture enterprises and events during this century, would you please share them with us and our readers? Prospective entries would include photos from family albums that show activities such as hay making, milking, range shelters for poultry, harvesting, planting, types of livestock, fair or farm show activities, and farm organization and extension, 4-H, FFA ect.

In summary, Lancaster Farming is looking for photographs of people, places and things that depict the history of agriculture during this century.

The photographs should be identifiable, including the names of at least some of the individuals in the photo, and the time, place and background of the photo.

Lancaster Farming will print a credit line with each photo to identify the person or organization who shared it with us.

You may bring your photos to our Lancaster Farming office, 1 East Main St., Ephrata, Pa. or send them to:

Lancaster Farming
Ag Photo History Book
Box 609, 1 E. Main St.
Ephrata, PA 17522

Of course, all photos will be returned to their owners unharmed. Space may prohibit us from printing every photo submitted.

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The 13th annual 4-H Benefit Auction will take place on Saturday, February 20, beginning at 9:30 a.m., in the Farm and Home Center Auditorium, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster.

The auction will feature items including Kellogg's cereal, animal and pet products, Winross trucks, Breyer models, live plants, cookbooks, model train items, and much more! A few special items include a Penn State basketball signed by the men's basketball team, Diamond Spring Water, and a Pioneer Seed wagon. Numerous gift certificates for merchandise and area services will also be sold.

Food items will be sold throughout the day by participants of the 4-H Exchange Program. Proceeds from the auction will benefit the county's 4-H program, which involves about 4,000 youth, ages 8-19, in "learn-by-doing" 4-H projects and emphasizes the development of life skills. The program is also fortunate to have the support of 500 adult and teen volunteer leaders. Monies raised will be used toward the purchase of educational materials, entry fees to events, transportation costs, volunteer leader support, and other 4-H expenses.

Gift certificates to be sold for services and merchandise include The Village Greens, The Amish Village, F.M. Brown's Sons Tack Shop, Bube's Brewery, The Castle Roller Skating, Simon Candy Co. Outlet, Hoss's, Dutch Apple Dinner Theatre, Fulton Opera House, and Esbenshade's Greenhouses. Tickets for the Strasburg Rail Road, Hershey Bears Hockey, Rainbow Dinner Theatre, and Sight & Sound performance of "Noah" will also be available.

To receive a complete list of sale items or make a donation for the auction, contact the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension office at (717) 394-6851.

Philadelphia Flower Show Celebrates Art Of Gardening

PHILADELPHIA — The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society's 1999 Philadelphia Flower Show, "Design On Nature... The Art Of Gardening," utilizes great gardens of the past to provide a wellspring of ideas for today's garden designs.

In 1999, the internationally acclaimed Philadelphia Flower Show, a tradition since 1829, recognizes the natural visions of 19th century American Romantics, who began a true American style of craftsmanship in harmony with nature. Honoring gardens as beautiful and distinguished works of art, the Show presents a captivating look at the use of sculpture, architecture, and other works of art as it enhances the allure of garden landscapes.

The show, sponsored by PNC Bank, features 10 acres of traditional formal designs, with elegant fountains and statuary as the glittering inspiration behind this year's theme. The central feature, "Art and the American Garden," by Stoney Bank Nursery, Glen Mills, presents an exquisite, tranquil garden of American Garden Statuary from the 1920s and 1930s in a classic ornamental setting (Jack Blandy, owner, Stoney Bank, and 1998 "Best-in-Show" winner, celebrates his 20th year with the Show). Working with the prestigious Conner-Rosenkranz Gallery in Manhattan, this display pays homage to the art of gardening and floral design with an interconnected series of 12 "micro" gardens with exquisitely decorative landscape sculpture.

Continuing the compelling centerpiece exhibits is the insightful display, "Sugar Run School House — Perry County, PA circa 1840," by Romano's Landscaping, Pitman, N.J. Here, an authentic rural schoolhouse sits nestled amid an outdoor classroom setting where young artists are depicted painting wildflowers native to the area. This original wooden schoolhouse structure is emblematic of functional mid-century American architecture. The structure, donated to the Show by Homer and Loretta Gelbaugh of Millerstown, will be reconstructed for this inspired study of a rural "Design on Nature."

The 50th anniversary of the National Trust For Historic Preservation, headquartered in Washington, D.C., will be celebrated with an exhibit that recognizes the American design elegance of the turn of the century period. This culturally sophisticated time is captured in "Irreplaceable Places," an exhibit featuring four of the many formal gardens maintained by the National Trust.

The elaborate magnificence of the Kykuit gardens at the Rockefeller Mansion, located on the lush banks of the Hudson River, is captured in a distinctive exhibit featuring reproductions of classical and contemporary sculpture from the Rockefeller family's personal collection. The Lyndhurst Estate, built when steamboats were the mode of travel along the Hudson River, is the subject of a garden inspired by the Gothic and Grecian "fantasies" of American Romantic architect, A.J. Davis. The artwork of sculptor Daniel Chester French, known for his "Minute-man" statue in Concord, Massachusetts, and his Abraham Lincoln at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., is showcased in a dramatic replication of his breathtaking gardens at Chestwood in the Berkshire mountains. The display salutes Daniel French and captures the appeal and essence of his expressive talent as "The" sculptor of the American Renaissance. Inspired by the credo, "Fight for a just cause, Love your fellow man, Live a good life," FILOLI, in Northern California, honors the garden as a timeless masterpiece. Famous for its sweeping vistas of greenery, majestic fountains, and acres of lush landscapes, FILOLI extols an idealized rural existence where humanity has a direct intimacy with the natural world.

This glorious quadrant of historic American places, all borne from the wonders of nature, is joined by Cliveden of Philadelphia. Cliveden was the site of the pivotal Battle of Germantown in 1777. Today, this National Historic Landmark, prominently located along Germantown Avenue, the nation's first National Historic Road, is the keystone of a vital historic house museum community in Philadelphia's Germantown section. The Cliveden display also serves as an information booth for the National Trust For Historic Preservation.

vating grotto where a mysterious shrouded figure stands as an icon of aesthetic sensibilities.

The Flower Show's annual showcase of the most talented landscapers, artists, and florists in the industry continues to unfold as 60 major exhibitors present their award-winning landscapes and gardens with traditional and modern motifs throughout 10 acres. These formal and idealized designs depict an integrated gardening history that incorporates artistry, creativity, and natural science.

A fantasy garden, inspired by the ancient world of dinosaurs, provides an ornamental interpretation of a primordial landscape. "Living Fossils" of horsetail, ginkgo, dawn redwood, magnolia, and ferns surround an Apatosaurus, with its head rising high above the treetops and gazing at the Show's myriad landscapes that include topiaries, rock gardens, wetlands, and brilliant flower arrangements.

Nearby, an opulent Raj tent is surrounded by vibrant holly, Japanese crabapple, lavender, delphinium, foxgloves, pink roses, and rare topiary azaleas while yellow daffodils, columbine, and witch hazel lead visitors on a serendipitous journey to "Tranquility at Garden's Edge." The Mary Jane Hoover, New Holland, also has "The Census Taker," which is a short skit used by Amish schools for many years.

Philadelphia Flower Show

artistic and horticultural skills of hundreds of area gardeners will once again captivate show audiences in the world-renowned amateur division where more than 2,000 entries are expected in more than 700 competitive categories.

This year, the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society presents "The American Gardener's Series" of special events at the Flower Show. A fantastic new gardener's playstation, "The American Gardener's Backyard," located in the Pennsylvania Convention Center's beautifully restored trainshed, is complete with hands-on demonstrations and displays of the latest garden gadgets and accessories. Backyard partners will provide hands-on gardening demonstrations on today's most popular topics — flowers, trees, lawns, and convenience gardening. A special "Backyard" exhibit features the soon to be constructed "National Garden" at the United States Botanic Garden in Washington, D.C. Visitors will also be able to get all their gardening questions answered by master gardeners in the Backyard's "Q & A" kiosk.

Daily special events in the series will also feature "Afternoon Tea" at 3:45 p.m. in room 202 B and free daily Culinary Presentations of culinary artistry by celebrity chefs and designers. Those taking Tea will enjoy a delectable menu served in the traditional English style. Individuals may reserve Tea on the day of their Show visit. Group Teas may be reserved in advance by calling (215) 988-8800 (the cost of an Afternoon Tea does not include Show tickets). Culinary Presentations offer visitors excellent decorating and preparation tips from garden to table. Presentations will be held daily at 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. in room 204 B.

More than 125 vendors will tempt the gardener in everyone with blooming bulbs and birdhouses, pots and plants, seeds, cut flowers, tools, topiaries, lighting and watering systems — every gardening need or desire from beautiful to basic can be purchased in the mammoth Show Marketplace. New this year, is a complete line of official Flower Show memorabilia. For lasting memories to bring home, visit the official "Flower Show Shoppes" throughout the Convention Center.

Philadelphia's wealth of cultural attractions, award-winning restaurants and hotels, its renowned historic district and superb shopping venues are all within walking distance of the Flower Show. Show attendees may exit and re-enter the show on the same day without an additional admission charge. Visitors are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to explore the city and all of the Flower Show Week special events. A complete listing of activities is available by calling (215) 988-8899.

Plan your visit when crowds are at a minimum. Best viewing hours are weekday evenings from 3 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. During the week, hours are Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. On weekends, the show operates Sundays, 8 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday, March 13, 8 a.m.-9:30 p.m.

Weekend tickets are $18 for adults and $16 during the week. Children ages 2-12 are $8 (good any day). Advance purchases and group sales are $15.50 (good on any day). Tickets can be purchased in advance through Ticketmaster, participating PNC Bank branches, SEPTA Ticket Outlets, Camera Shop, Inc. and participating nurseries and florists. Group orders may be placed by calling PHS at (215) 988-8839 for a reservation form. ## MAKE A SICK HOUSE WELL with the LIVING AIR XL-15

According to the EPA, indoor air pollution is our nation's biggest pollution problem. Modern homes and buildings are so energy efficient they block out nature's air cleaning agents and trap pollution inside—inside where you probably spend 90% of your time. What can you do? Ventilation systems can be expensive, and filters provide only a partial remedy. Why not look at nature? Living Air looked to nature before designing the revolutionary XL-15, an electronic thunderstorm in a box. A thunderstorm is nature's most powerful air cleaning activity. Why not take the test? Ask for a free, no obligation demonstration of the powerful Living Air XL-15.

Farmer Boy Ag Systems

Invites You To Join Us At The

Keystone Pork Exposition

Wednesday, February 10th at the Lebanon Expo Center

Farmer Boy Ag Systems is a proud ally of today's modern farmers raising hogs in cost-effective confinement facilities. Our turn-key contracting services means substantial cost and labor reduction, enabling you and your employees to stay on top of your schedules.

We've earned a solid reputation for building through tough weather and site conditions, and following blueprints painstakingly to erect a structurally superior, functional, attractive building.

We ask you to measure us by our results. A tour of recently constructed buildings will clearly demonstrate our quality and craftsmanship. Each Farmer Boy Ag System facility reveals our utilization of products that promote longevity, such as pressure treated lumber products. They show our environmentally safe lagoons, which exceed the standards of the industry. We over-engineer our buildings to further ensure that they meet and surpass your expectations of long-lasting durability.

We realize that your reputation is on the line with every animal you finish, every product you deliver. So is ours. That's why our highest purpose is to establish an alliance with you for our mutual growth and success. And that is why you can count on our field service personnel 24 hours a day, seven days a week to handle any assignment and resolve problems that are a reality in every industry.

Axial Flow Combines Celebrate Milestone

This special edition Case IH 2366 Axial-Flow combine is the 100,000th unit produced by Case Corporation. It represents more than 21 years of advancements to rotary technology.

RACINE, Wis. — The 100,000th Case IH Axial-Flow combine recently rolled off the production lines at Case Corporation's East Moline, Ill., manufacturing facility.

The historic combine marks 21 years of industry-leading rotary technology, including the recent introduction of award-winning Case IH 2300 Series combines.

In September, Marv Peugh and Steve Hollewell of Agri-Dawn Inc., Lanark, Ill., accepted keys to the Case IH 2366 Axial-Flow combine. Clad in a specially designed, rainbow-colored ribbon decal, the combine was "fired-up" by its new owners before a crowd of Case engineers, corporate executives, plant personnel, and the Case IH dealer who sold the 100,000th Axial-Flow combine.

"From the very first rotary-based combine manufactured in East Moline in 1977, the Axial-Flow combine has set the standard for simplicity, grain savings and grain quality," said Kelly Kravig, marketing manager, crop harvesting/advanced farming systems. "That first combine with a single in-line rotor for gentle, multiple-pass rotary threshing is still being used today by the Frey family of Pocahontas, Ill.

"But, of course, we recognize that improvements can always be found," he noted. "Case has continued to build and refine the Axial-Flow combines, based on input from customers."

Most recently that innovation was recognized by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, which awarded Case IH 2300 Series Axial-Flow combines its prestigious AE50 award.

"The 2300 Series family builds on the proud Axial-Flow tradition, coupling increased horsepower with an in-cab electronic tailings monitor," said Kravig. "This increases throughput and enables the operator to optimize harvest settings and maximize the machine's performance."

Simplified maintenance and improved cab comfort also contributed to increased productivity. In Case IH 2300 Series Axial-Flow combines, the operator has easy access to such essential areas as hydraulics, batteries, filters, and the grain tank. Non-skid surfaces on all platforms and steps make walking around easier and safer.

Inside the cab, a spacious interior, air suspension seat and automatic climate control system help to reduce operator fatigue. In addition, a right-hand console that moves in tandem with the seat gives easy access to all functions. The multifunction propulsion lever on the console allows the operator to control six vital harvest functions with finger-tip control.

Disc Harrows Feature Wide Range Of Options, Widths

ATLANTA, Ga. — Glencoe offers a complete line of disc harrows in folding, non-folding and offset models. Cutting widths cover 8 to 32 feet and special attachments are available to meet today's reduced tillage needs while preparing a level seedbed.

New additions to the line include two rigid frame finishing discs (TD350/TD351), two flex frame finishing discs (TD580/TD590), and one offset primary tillage disc (OD650). Designed to match any size operation, the non-folding discs have a cutting width of 8 to 18 feet while the folding models range from 13 to 32 feet.

For improved cutting action, the four finishing discs offer a choice of 20- or 22-inch cut-out or smooth disc blades. The TD350/351 offer a 7-1/2- or 9-inch blade spacing while the TD580/590 offer a 8- or 9-inch blade spacing. Average blade weight exceeds 100 pounds (up to 170 pounds/blade on the OD650 models). On all models end blades are tapered to leave a level finish.

Glencoe discs are equipped with triple lip seal ball bearings for longer life and improved field performance. Rigid or flexible bearing hangers are optional. For added durability, end bearings are never more than one blade from the end of the gang and for more aggressive tilling action, the TD350/351 can be set from 15 to 21 degrees and the OD650 can be set from 16 to 26 degrees and each have an adjustable gang angle that can be set. The TD580/590 has a non-adjustable gang angle of 18 degrees.

Farm Credit Names Management

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — Several operational officers of AgChoice Farm Credit, ACA, were recently announced, according to Allyn L. Lamb, AgChoice CEO.

Darrell L. Curtis has been named chief financial officer (CFO). Curtis, CFO of the former Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, provides leadership and direction in all areas of financial management, including financial accounting, reporting, treasury management, and other areas.

Curtis began his Farm Credit career in 1989, managing tax operations at the Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore. He has been with Northeastern Farm Credit as CFO for nine years. Curtis is a certified public accountant and has a bachelor's degree from Penn State and a master's degree in accounting from George Washington University.

John H. Brumbaugh has been named vice president and director of quality control of AgChoice.

Brumbaugh, vice president for underwriting and special assets of the former PennWest Farm Credit, ACA, began his career in Farm Credit in 1978 as a bank field representative for the Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore. He joined the former Meadville Farm Credit, now known as PennWest Farm Credit, where he worked as loan officer and branch manager. In 1984 he went to the Jackson Production Credit Association before joining York Farm Credit, where he worked as area manager. He joined PennWest Farm Credit in 1998, where he became vice president of lending.

Todd Campbell has been named vice president of management information systems and technology. Campbell, vice president of management information systems and administration of the former PennWest Farm Credit, ACA, began his Farm Credit career in 1982 at PennWest, and has been senior loan officer, assistant vice president of corporate development, and vice president of operations. He was a research associate from 1980-1982 at Penn State, from where he was graduated. He has earned a master's in business administration from the University of Pittsburgh.

Jay V. Rush has become marketing and member services director for AgChoice. Rush, who was executive vice president of the former York Farm Credit, ACA, assists the president with director relations and responsibilities and oversees all marketing, public and member/customer relations, and related services.

Rush began his Farm Credit career at Northeastern Farm Credit before joining York Farm Credit in 1982 as a vice president of operations. He served as CEO from 1984-1998. He has a bachelor's in agricultural mechanization from Penn State and a master's in business administration from York College. He is the Farm Credit representative to the Penn State Agricultural Council and is director on that board.

Massey Ferguson Introduces New Tractors

ATLANTA, Ga. — Massey Ferguson's new MF 4200 Series platform tractors are replacing the MF 300 Series tractor line that gained recognition among world farmers for performance and reliability, contributing to Massey Ferguson's record-setting achievement as the world's best-selling tractor brand for the last 35 consecutive years.

The new MF 4200 Series platform tractors build on the proven performance of the prior MF 300 Series with nearly 70 percent of the tractor either new or re-engineered for productivity and reliability.

"The MF 4200 Series platform tractor line covers the power categories most in demand by farmers in North America," said John Sargeant, Massey Ferguson product marketing manager. "With the

New MF 4245 Platform Tractor (75 PTO hp) is one of eight new 'next generation' Massey Ferguson 4200 Series tractors from 55 to 99 PTO hp. A wide range of transmission, PTO, hydraulics, linkage control, and two- and four-wheel drive options are available.

wide range of transmission, PTO, hydraulics, linkage control, and two- and four-wheel drive options available, farmers can effectively tor to apply chemicals and fumigants without using personal protective equipment.

This new package from John Deere enables these integrated cabs to meet ASAE standard S525. This standard sets the requirements for cabs used in lieu of personal protective equipment, such as respirators. The Federal EPA endorses the standard for administering Worker Protection Standard field programs.

The protection package includes special UltraGard™ XL cab filters and a cab pressure indicator that tells the operator that the cab environment is complying with the standard, and it also warns when the filters need servicing. In fact, the UltraGard XL filters from John Deere far exceed the standard's strict requirements for particulate-filtration efficiency, vapor-adsorption capacity, and the established protection-factor ratio.

The Spray-Ready protection package is available for all John Deere 9000 Series Tractors and cab-equipped 7000 TEN Series and 6000 TEN Series Tractors.

match tractor and implement combinations to their specific needs."

For added flexibility in matching tractors to applications, new MF 4200 Series tractors are available in standard, high visibility, and low-profile designs, depending on the model. High-visibility tractors feature a steeply-slanted hood profile, resulting in greatly improved forward visibility for maximum control and productivity when operating loaders and other implements that require the highest degree of visibility possible.

Low-profile tractors feature the steeply slanted hood with a horizontal exhaust and clamshell style fenders to allow branches to ride over fenders and lights, plus reduced height dimensions for working in orchards, vineyards, and confined spaces.

Five transmissions — an 8/2 sliding gear, and synchromesh 8/8, 12/4, 12/12 shuttle, and 18/6 Speedshift — provide exceptional flexibility in matching performance to applications, and to budget. The 12x12 shuttle transmission also has a creeper gear option providing low forward ground speeds for specialized applications.

PTO systems ensure optimum efficiency from any implement. Standard features include fully independent, on-the-move engagement. Depending on the model, 540 or 5400/1000 rev/min operation is available.

Lapp Wins Farm Bureau's Citizenship Award

GLENMONT, N.Y. — The winner of the New York Farm Bureau Citizenship Award is Niagara County's Leon Lapp, who competed for the state title at the New York Farm Bureau Annual Meeting, Dec. 7-10 in Syracuse.

Leon, of Appleton in Niagara County, is the son of Leon and Kathleen Lapp, Jr. He vied for the State Citizenship Award title with eight fellow high school students on Tuesday, Dec. 8. Criteria for Leon's selection included a personal interview, an oral presentation on the topic "How I See Myself Promoting Agriculture—Now and in the Future," and a completed application. Farm Bureau's State Promotion & Education Committee sponsored the annual county and statewide Citizenship Award contests.

Second place was awarded to Amy Basil, daughter of Jim and Diane Basil, Dryden, Tompkins County. Third place in the statewide competition went to Kristin Tuller, daughter of John and Linda Tuller, New Berlin, Chenango County.

According to Farm Bureau Program Specialist Sandra Prokop, "The judges had a very difficult time" in selecting this year's winner. "The candidates, their applications, presentations and interviews were on a very high level. The selection of this year's winner was a very difficult one, but I can see a great future for New York agriculture if this young people are a sampling of what's to come."

Also competing in the Citizenship Award Contest were Cassandra Busekist, Cattaraugus County; Jim McGarr, Cayuga County; Jon Staib, Franklin County; Jacob Van Evera, Montgomery County; and Kathryn Ainslie, Otsego County.

As first-place winner, Leon Lapp received a $500 cash prize. For second place, Amy Basil received a $250 cash prize. For third place, Kristin Tuller was presented with a cash prize of $100, plus certificates and other gifts.

All county finalists received certificates of recognition, $50, plus an expense-paid overnight stay at the State Annual Meeting, at the Radisson Plaza - The Hotel Syracuse

10% DISCOUNT AT PARTS COUNTER

As usual, we will be offering a 10% discount on all parts (except for specials in this ad)
These special offers, along with the discounts, will last all week

Save up to 15% when you reblade your harrow with EARTH METAL disk
blades.

EARTH METAL® Disk Blades

Outlast All Other

Get tillage done quicker and easier than ever before. Advanced steel and manufacturing technology makes EARTH METAL® disk blades tougher than anything else in the field - up to 60% tougher than ordinary straight rolled steel blades.
Also, they wear up to 20% longer than the best conventional blades. Less breakage, less wear means less downtime and cost.

Herbert Hoover Farney says, "I didn't think they could mix it."

Steve, Dale, and Herbert Hoover Farney
Silvery Falls Farms - Lowville, NY

Mr Farney is talking about mixing 11 5% long stem dry hay by ration weight in the Knight Reel Auggie 3450, which he and his sons decided to purchase in September of 1994

Herbert was born the day Herbert Hoover was elected president

The Farneys previously owned a three-auger Oswalt stationary unit. They state that the "old mixer tended to ball material up, especially in wetter forages, while the Reel Auggie 3450

'fluffs' the ration"

The Farney's herd average is up about 1,000 lbs., and they have a higher protein test as well
They milk 160 Holsteins, and feed a total of 260 head. They like the low power requirement — the 390 cubic foot machine is powered by a John Deere 2030 tractor

3000 Reel Auggie TMR Mixers

The CLAAS® Quadrant 1200 square baler—The new standard equipment for commercial operators

CLAAS doesn't have to sell a commercial operator on the advantages he gets from large, densely-packed square bales.

Yes, the Quadrant 1200 delivers the density commercial operators want. Yes, its bales inhibit spoilage by keeping the air out. Yes, they preserve quality because they minimize nutrient loss.

The 1200 also offers the high production capacities you demand. Its 4 ft x 2-1/4 ft x up to 8 ft long bales effectively increase storage space and dramatically increase transport capacities—all at a high productivity rate. And you know what this means to your bottom line.

The Quadrant makes easy work of dry hay, haylage and silage crops—whatever you've got. And it bales as much of it as you've got.

CLAAS's shaft-driven knotters have earned a worldwide reputation for reliability and low maintenance. Other notable features are its 3-stage pre-chamber, 78" wide pickup, powerful transmission, heavy-duty worm gear, 1000rpm pto, hydraulic density control, capacity for up to 24 balls of sisal or plastic twine, and of course 6 dependable CLAAS shaft-driven knotters.

Production capacity. Convenient handling and storage. Economical transport. Density and quality. A better bottom line.

For more information about the Quadrant and how it can meet your commercial needs, contact the CLAAS dealer listed below.

Incidentally, CLAAS quality is also available in a smaller Quadrant model designed for dairy operators.

THE HARVESTING SPECIALIST

Hurry into CLAAS® before all the JAGUARS have escaped. See your CLAAS dealer for details and get the quality and performance you've come to expect from the world's leading producer of self-propelled forage harvesters. Then Unleash The Beast.

The corn cracker can be changed in just 5 minutes to switch from corn to hay. The Jaguar's efficient processing produces quality silage for higher milk or beef production.

Service is no beauty chore because compartment covers quickly swing open to provide easy access to the engine and cooling system.

The operator can safely sharpen the chopping knives and precisely adjust the shearbar from the driver's seat automatically.

The Beast's efficient cutting system has a full width metal detector, 30" wide chevron cutting drum and full width 8-blade accelerator.

The Jaguar's unique top-to-back cooling system with rotary air screen assures excellent, clean cooling.

The Shortest Turning Large Tractor You Can Own Today! Simple, User-Friendly Operation.

Industry Leading Turning Radius

The revolutionary chassis of the MX Series Magnum improves your overall performance and productivity. In fact, the innovative Surround frame allows for the tightest turning radius in the industry, even with front duals!

Thanks to axle improvements, engine placement and a sleek hood design, the MX Series Magnum can easily turn into 12 30-inch rows with all row crop tire configurations on true 60-inch tread settings.

The new, single-piece, sculpted, cast iron Surround frame is the key to the enhanced capabilities and performance of these tractors. It enables the MX Series Magnum to offer the first factory front duals, dramatically improving both traction and flotation. By balancing the chassis, we've significantly reduced the amount of front ballast required. And the frame easily accommodates mounted chemical tanks or loaders, allowing you to perform multiple applications.

This new Baler Model 8575 just arrived, which we purchased before the price increase and we will pass the savings on to you! 1000 lb. dry bale weight, capable for high moisture baling, 31 5"x34 4" chamber with adjustable bale length up to 98", automatic density control, center lube system, roller bale chute. Buy Quality - Buy Case IH! #### The 8930 MAGNUM™ Tractor

The 180 PTO Horsepower (134 kW) 8930 MAGNUM tractor. Built tough to thrive in one of the world's most demanding environments. Your farm.

- Rugged 8.3L engine with increased horsepower and torque response handles your toughest applications
- Durable, full powershift transmission provides effortless shifting under any condition
- New end-of-row function and slip limit control let you complete work faster and be more productive
- 23% more hydraulic flow at the remotes for more responsive implement control

New Case IH 8545 100
Stroke Per Min.

CENTER-LINE DESIGN

Saves More Leaves Which Means More Milk In The Tank

The benefits of the Case International center-line rectangular baler for a smaller operation are many. Narrow transport width. Easy in-field maneuverability. Gentle handling of hay. Uniform bale shape. And, a budget-minded price.

You'll appreciate it with the first bale you make. A wide, low-profile pickup and center-line feeding mean more leaves end up in the bale, not on the ground.

And, if that's not enough, there are a number of options available. A hydraulic pickup lift, flotation tires, hydraulic density control, wagon hitch and a choice of bale chutes or hydraulic bale thrower with electric controls.

Stop in and find out more about the Case International rectangular baler.

New Case IH Grain Drills In Stock For Quick Delivery!

The Goal: Uniform Seed Distribution***
Case IH 5300 Grain Drill

Designed for precision planting in solid or extra-narrow row patterns to maximize yields.

- Exclusive diagonal-tipped fluted-roll seed cups ensure uniform seed distribution
- Close-coupled maneuverability
- Large-capacity seed hopper to cover extra acres between refills

And you get more than a precision grain drill. You can count on us for genuine, value-priced parts, professional and reliable service support, and flexible financing.

Super Boom™ is best

When you're looking for a skid-steer, there's the challengers and then there's the champ. Well say hello to the undisputed champ in the all-new Model LX885 New Holland Super Boom™ skid-steer loader.

It has a 60-horsepower, turbocharged diesel engine for the ultimate in power. Its massive 2,200-lb. operating load picks up where all others leave off. Of course, it has the features you expect from New Holland, such as the best speed, stability, visibility, lift height and dump reach in the industry. Add that to the Pick Up 'n Go™ universal attachment system and there's nothing it can't handle.

Stop by today and see for yourself why no other skid-steer can compare.

Why choose a New Holland skid-steer loader? NEW HOLLAND

- Superior visibility
- Greater bucket & lift capacity
- Unbeatable stability
- The most attachments
- Faster speeds

GET PRECISE APPLICATION CONTROL

New Holland side-delivery spreaders provide the most material control. Whether you're light top dressing, laying down a heavy layer, or anything in between, the Model 3110 puts the right amount of material right where you need it.

- Handles a wide variety of material – slurry, gutter material, cow manure, even poultry litter.
- V-tank design delivers material to the auger fast.
- Heavy-duty round-core auger produces less drag.
- Double-acting hydraulic cylinder moves auger up and down to keep material flowing.
- Hydraulic gate and specially designed expeller give precise application control.
- Backed by a 10-year warranty against tank rust-through.

See us for all your spreader needs.
New Holland Box Spreaders also in stock.

GREEN EQUIPMENT THAT WORKS BEST

"The ground speed is exceptional. I can do 200 acres of beans behind wheat a day."

Ed Baker
Middletown, DE

Even though Hooper, Inc. takes pride in promoting the color red, there are times when we steer customers toward a piece of green equipment. For example, when Ed Baker was looking for a new drill, he came to Hooper and we recommended Great Plains. Ed runs 3,000 acres a year, so he needed a dependable drill backed by dependable people.

"Hooper always had a great inventory of parts for my drill when I needed them," said Ed, "and both Hooper and Great Plains stand behind the drill. I couldn't be more pleased."

Great Plains drills backed by Hooper's quality service and parts support are the perfect combination for maximum productivity. Stop by Hooper, Inc. today and we'll help you find a Great Plains green machine that's right for you.

MEILLEUR QUE NOUVEAUX

No Matter How You Say It . . . A New Tractor From Hooper Is BETTER THAN NEW

When you buy a new Case IH tractor from Hooper, Inc., you get a tractor that's better than new. That's because at Hooper you get more than just a quality tractor.

Experienced Sales Staff

Hooper salesmen have the experience and knowledge to make sure you get the tractor that's right for your field and applications. Hooper salespeople know farming, they know tractors and they know which tractor will work best for you.

Hooper Modifications

Hooper will make sure to ballast your new tractor properly. That means less wear on your tires and less wear on the tractor itself. And less wear means your tractor is delivering maximum productivity.

Service Support

Hooper has unmatched service support. Each of Hooper's three locations has tractor specialists on-site who work extensively on tractors. But that's not the end of the Hooper service story. Hooper tractor specialists are microspecialized. Some tractor specialists at Hooper work exclusively on four-wheel drives, still others work only on hydrostatic transmissions.

Inventory

Hooper, Inc. is the largest dealer of Case IH tractors east of the Mississippi. If you're in the market for a Case IH tractor, Hooper will be able to meet your need.

Trust

You know Hooper stands for quality before and after the sale. If you have any problems with your tractor, you can be confident that Hooper will provide the solution. With Hooper, you know you'll be treated right.

1999 FARM EQUIPMENT GUIDE BLUE BOOK FOR FARM MACHINERY

NEW 1999 FARM EQUIPMENT GUIDE BLUE BOOK FOR FARM MACHINERY

Covers 100 brands of tractors, crawler tractors, combines, corn & bean heads, windrowers, balers, planters, spreaders and skid loaders. Pricing: Average auction prices, retail prices, new list prices, option/value pricing for tractors and combines, and loan values. Covers most old and new models from 1912-1998. Specifications: Weight, HP, CID, Fuel, no. speeds, D/E Drawbar engine, etc. Serial Numbers: learn the actual model year of equipment and locations. Also list companies selling hard to find parts plus salvage yards if you are thinking of buying or selling. Evaluating, repairing and identifying farm equipment. This book will save its cost many times over.

Apply dairy bedding with 75% less time and labor

"It used to take two of us two days to install fresh bedding.
Now, with the Millcreek Bedding Spreader, it only takes one man one day."

Scott Coblenz,
Deer Spring Farm, Middletown, MD

Introducing The Remarkable Millcreek Bedding Spreader

Now you can save about 75% of the time and labor for applying wood shavings, sawdust, or sand for free stall bedding. One operator can put in new bedding by himself with no hand-spreading necessary.
The Millcreek Bedding Spreader is adjustable, and puts material exactly where you want it in the thickness you want. There's nothing like it for fast, efficient, and cost-effective application of bedding material in free stall dairy barns.

One man can put bedding material exactly where you want it without hand work.

Millcreek Bedding Spreaders come in 7 different sizes from 3.8 to 22 cu. yd. capacity, and start under $5000. Call today for your free information.

TRANSITION STARTER PAC

For use in dairy cows during the critical transition period.

The Transition period is the most critical period in a cow's lactation, because it directly affects peak milk, reproductive efficiency, and is directly related to metabolic disorders.

TRANSITION STARTER PAC

has been developed using the latest data from Consolidated Nutrition research to:

- Increase Dry Matter Intake
- Improve fiber digestion
- Minimize Ketosis
- Aide in fat metabolism
- Stimulate rumen function
- INCREASE MILK YIELD!

TRANSITION STARTER PAC:

- Can be used in conjunction with DCAD products
- Can be used as a topdress or in a TMR
- Economical, low inclusion, high quality product.

FEED AT THE RATE OF 1 1/4 LB. PER HEAD PER DAY FOR 3 WEEKS PRE FRESH AND 3 WEEKS AFTER
FRESHENING to help your cows achieve peak performance during the most critical phase of lactation.

Environmental Issues On Tap for Dairy Conference

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co) — A major environmental concern for dairy farmers is nutrient pollution of surface water, but many farmers are unaware of cost-effective techniques available to reduce losses of these nutrients from farms, according to Katharine Knowlton, research scientist at Virginia Tech Department of Dairy Science.

"Environmentalists, scientists, farmers, and the public are increasingly concerned about the amount of phosphorus in surface water such as lakes, rivers, and streams," said Knowlton, who is researching the impact of phosphorus in dairy feeding programs on the resulting excretion - manure - and on the environment.

Knowlton, scheduled to speak at the Mid-Atlantic Dairy Management Conference Feb 24-25 in Camp Hill, said dairy farmers have a real opportunity to reduce surface water pollution by changing their feeding programs.

"Most farmers feed phosphorus in excess of current requirements," Knowlton said. "It is commonly believed that over-feeding phosphorus reduces reproduction problems in the dairy herd. However, there is no research to support such a benefit."

In recent years, excess phosphorus in water has been pinpointed as a cause of algae blooms and fish kills. "We thought if we controlled soil erosion we could control the amount of phosphorus leaving the farm," Knowlton said. "But we've discovered that phosphorus runoff can occur even without erosion in intensive animal production areas."

Decreasing the amount of phosphorus in feed rations by 20 percent to 30 percent will decrease the amount of phosphorus excretion per animal by the same proportion. This directly reduces the amount of phosphorus excretion per animal by the same proportion. This directly reduces the amount of phosphorus that needs to be land applied, reducing the risk of phosphorus runoff.

The obvious beneficiary of such action is the environment, but farmers benefit, too. "Farmers will benefit by reduced feed costs," Knowlton said, adding that phosphorus is the most expensive feed ingredient. Savings in feed costs could total $2,500 per year for a 100-cow

farm

And for farmers facing environmental regulations in the next five to six years, there is an added benefit of reducing phosphorus in feed. "If we begin making changes now, it will be easier to meet phosphorus-based regulations when they are imposed," Knowlton said.

Knowlton will talk in more detail about "Feeding Management to Reduce Nutrient Loading" at the Mid-Atlantic Dairy Management Conference. For more information or a registration brochure, contact Beth Moore, conference coordinator, at (717) 375-2639 or beth@innernet.net

Dairy Farmers Of America Meeting March 22-23

KANSAS CITY, Mo — Dairy Farmers of America (DFA) will conduct its first annual meeting at the Hyatt Regency Crown Center in Kansas City, Mo March 22-23.

Attendance at the two-day meeting is expected to top 1,200 dairy producers and guests from across the nation.

The meeting begins at 1 15 p.m. Monday, March 22 with a general session featuring presentations outlining accomplishments of the dairy marketing cooperative by DFA Chairman Herman Brubaker and President and Chief Executive Officer Gary Hanman. In addition, Charles Beckendorf, chairman of DFA's Finance Committee, will present the financial report on results of the organization's first year of operation.

A banquet Monday evening features a birthday celebration recognizing DFA's successful first year of operation. Guest speaker Peter Legge, publisher and CEO of Canada Wide Magazines will address meeting participants sharing his "secrets for business success."

Tuesday morning, the general session reconvenes with DFA's member delegate body discussing and voting on resolutions submitted by members in DFA's six Area Councils. The resolution process gives members at the grass-roots level an opportunity to have input in development of DFA positions on issues and policies that affect the dairy industry. The meeting concludes with a "question and answer" session with DFA leaders. Adjournment is scheduled for 3 p.m., Tuesday, March 23.

HARTLY, Del — The 1999 Delmarva Dairy Day is Feb. 10 here at the Hartly Fire Hall from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Johne's disease and the implications that this may have for the dairy industry will be a main topic. The tentative program is as follows:

- Johne's Disease, Dr. Wes Towers
- Improving silage quality, Dr. Limin Kung

• Legislative, political and industry updates, Speaker Bob Gray, executive director, Council of Northeast Farmer Coops

Feed value differences in corn silage varieties (guest speaker from Penn State)

• Nutrient management issues for dairy in Delaware and Maryland, Gordon Johnson and John Hall.

• Working together to reduce costs or increase efficiencies (guest panel of Pennsylvania farmers) including cooperative commodity buying and equipment and facility sharing.

• The future of milk processing and dairy product wholesaling/retailing (guest speaker).

There will also be a trade show with numerous exhibitors. Lunch is free and there is no registration fee.

For more information or special needs in accessing this meeting, contact Gordon Johnson at (302) 697-4000.

DIGGING DOWN? POWER UP!

Kubota introduces the KX-Series mini-compact excavators from 22.2 HP to 42.7 HP, featuring Kubota's "Power Up" hydraulic system that increases digging performance and traveling speed.

Whatever your construction needs, we have the right excavator for you. The KX-41 and KX-71 come with a two speed swing system that improves operator feel in delicate digging areas, while the KX-101 and KX-151 are equipped with the "TPSS" two pattern selection system that lets the operator choose the most comfortable operating pattern.

If you require an excavator that delivers superior performance and digging capabilities, work a Kubota KX Excavator and "Power Up"

Cut stall clean-out time by 50% with a Millcreek Compact Spreader.

"The spreading efficiency sure outweighs the price. This is a wonderful machine. I couldn't be more pleased."

EARL SINKS - Brock, Texas

Say "Good-Bye" to back-breaking manure handling and cut stall clean-out time in half. Hook an affordable Millcreek Compact Spreader to your 10 hp garden tractor, take it right to the stall for easy loading. No more wheelbarrow.

Millcreek Spreaders last and last

Since spreaders are our specialty, we put more into each one. For example our 20-year guaranteed floor will never rust or rot. Positive chain drive provides excellent spreading action. And tough steel construction holds up to rugged farm use. Seven sizes, for 1-horse barns to 50-horse stables. PTO and ground drive models available.

AGRI-SAFE • A NATURAL DEWORMER

THE MANY USES OF DIATOMACEOUS EARTH.

Agri-Safe, Inc., supplier of diatomaceous earth in its purest form, created a lot of attention at the recent Pa. Farm Show in Harrisburg. It was amazing to find out that so many people are really aware of all the chemicals being presented to our animals and how interested our farmers are in trying to find alternative methods of treating our livestock and pets.

Melvin & Elaine Schumaker, distributing Agri-Safe under the name of Agri-Safe of the Northeast, could not believe all the interest shown at booth 622 at the Pa. Farm Show, when they presented this product to the area farmers. Some farmers had heard of diatomaceous earth before, but many had never heard of the product.

Most of the following information is by Carol Manly, B.S. in Range Animal Science, Sul Ross State University, Alpine, Texas. Exactly what is diatomaceous earth? It is a white, odorless powder which comes from a mineral deposit called diatomite. Some people mistake it for some type of calcite or limestone, but even though it is a fossil deposit, it is the mineral remains of single-celled freshwater algae, or diatoms. Whereas limestone is primarily calcium, diatomite is primarily silicon dioxide, with a beneficial sprinkling of essential minerals. DE is simply the fossil remains of diatoms, or one-celled algae. A single particle of diatomaceous earth is bristly in appearance. Each one-celled diatom spent its entire life (less than two weeks) extracting trace minerals that were in solution in the water that it lived in, using these minerals to construct a tiny shell around itself. About 85% of this mineral shell is composed of silicon, in the form of silicon dioxide. The remaining 15% consists of boron, aluminum, manganese, magnesium, gallium, iron, calcium, vanadium, copper, cadmium, titanium, zirconium, and strontium. This bristly mineral shell settled to the bottom of the lake once the algae died. Vast quantities of these empty shells collected on the lake bed to form deep deposits of diatomite. When these dried up and the sea receded, the deposits were fossilized and compressed into a soft chalky rock, which is surface mined and crushed into a powder looking much like flour, from whence comes DE.

Though numerous types of DE exist, the one suitable for livestock producers and pet owners is called codex food grade diatomaceous earth. Other deposits of diatomite, the soft, whitish rock which is pulverized into the white powder known as diatomaceous earth, but a lesser quality product, become industrial grade, and end up in cans of paint and other industrial applications. Still other diatomite may be crushed, heated, and crystallized to become the product used for pool filters. That is why it is imperative to purchase the proper type of diatomaceous earth.

Food grade DE, with its tiny bristles and hollow shell, is perfectly designed for desiccation, or the extraction of moisture from its surroundings. So how does DE kill internal parasites, which live in the water-filled world of animals' intestines? The most popular theory is that the DE particles irritate the thin "skin" of the parasite, causing it to dislodge and die. It is the physical structure of each individual algal "skeleton" which enables it to perform its most important function, the destruction of parasites. How does it work? Though no one knows for sure, the popular theory is that the starburst or bristle formation of the ten to twelve micron DE particle irritates the lining of the parasite. Whether it is attached or traversing somewhere in the alimentary canal, the parasite is adversely affected by the irritating DE, and either releases its grip and is passed through, or it fails to ever attach to the intestinal lining. Codex Food Grade Diatomaceous earth does not irritate the animal's organs due to the thickness of the epithelial lining, or thick mucus coating. Though DE is incapable of desiccating the worms eggs which pass out in the feces of infected animals, they can be destroyed by treating pastures and pens with DE. It will dry up and destroy the eggs, thus lowering the incidence of reinfestation, and thus help to break the parasite cycle. The DE which is passed out of the animal in the feces retains its beneficial qualities. Once the manure is dry, any fly eggs which are deposited in the manure and which are exposed to the DE in the dry manure will also be desiccated and die. It is a good idea to supplementarily treat pastures at the same time that animals are being wormed with DE so the reinfestation is further limited in this way.

When DE is dusted atop and around an ant mound, the ants walk through it and DE attaches to their bodies. Ants have a relatively hard exoskeleton as compared to other "juicy" insects, such as roaches or crickets, which have a softer shell. However, all insects have external skeletons, composed of chitin (pronounced kytin). Diatomaceous earth adheres to the smooth waxy surface of the insect's body, and the bristly DE scratches the protective surface, allowing moisture from body fluids to escape. DE further facilitates its desiccation by drawing water into its hollow shell, where it can store up to three times its weight in water. This is how it kills external parasites such as lice and fleas, and also how it kills garden pests and other unwanted insects.

Test results indicate that diatomaceous earth that has been found to be the most efficient at killing internal parasites is between ten and twelve microns in size. In the past, there had been a problem with the consistency of the micron size of food grade DE, which resulted in a non-uniform product and sometimes sporadic efficiency as a wormer. However, new manufacturing technology has resulted in a product of uniform micron size, hence more uniform performance.

Before purchasing DE, make sure that it has been filtered for a range of 10 to 12 microns. The label should also specify that the product is amorphous, meaning that it contains less than 1% crystalline silica, and that it is FDA and USDA approved. The most superior food grade diatomaceous earth contains less than 1/2 (.5) of one percent crystalline silica, such as found in Agri-Safe.

Agri-Safe can be safely fed to animals, or used as a dust spray, for parasite control. This action is strictly mechanical. The microscopically sharp edges of the product contact the offending organism and pierce their protective coatings. The parasites then dry out in a few hours and die.

In addition to its ability to control internal parasites, producers have also noted other benefits. For instance, while recently visiting the goat farm of Andy Cook in Columbia, South Carolina, two young goats were brought in from the pasture, nearly dead from bloat. One in fact, did succumb before anything could be done for it. The other was drenched with D.E. and water, and began recovering. By the next day it was perfectly healthy, with no signs of bloat. The D.E. drench had saved the dying kid.

Several producers have mentioned that goats fed diatomaceous earth have no scour problems. One goat producer in Mississippi did state that her goats were so heavily infested with worms that they all had some degree of scouring as the parasites were dislodging. We believe that this is probably a natural part of the purging process, heavily infested goats are going to scour until the worms pass, after which their systems return to normal, with no losses due to scours. Mortalities due to scours have ceased in all the D.E. herds from all reporting states. For producers of show goats, the good news is that the addition of D.E. to the goat's rations will produce animals with shinier coats and clearer eyes. Keeping animals worm-free without relying on stress-producing chemical toxins in the diet (coupled with the trace minerals found in D.E.) result in healthier, more robust animals.

Independent university studies have been conducted using Agri-Safe in various livestock studies. They include Prairie View A & M University, Texas, with Dr. Barbara Johnson, the University of Nebraska, with Dr. Terry Kloppenstein; the Louisiana State University, Dr. Miller, Texas A & M University, Dr. Pinkerton, Alcorn State University (in Mississippi) with Dr. Daggert, Fort Valley State University (Georgia), Dr. Will Getz, and Clemson University (South Carolina) Dr. George Smith.

An organ analysis of Dairy Cows was performed at the Michigan Department of Agriculture Laboratory Division, Lansing, Michigan. Upon pathological examination of the organs of dairy cows having been given free-choice feeding of codex food-grade diatomaceous earth for a period of approximately five years, no visible organ abnormalities were observed.

A field report on possible hazards of feeding DE to dairy cattle was done at the University of Illinois, College of Veterinary. When a 2% ration of codex foodgrade diatomaceous earth was incorporated into the feed of dairy cattle, there was no evidence of absorption nor did any residue of the product appear in the milk.

A field report on free choice feeding to dairy cattle performed by the Dairy Herd Association Improvement Program, Hussey Farms, Litchfield Park, Az, showed that tests run on purebred Jersey dairy cows given free choice access to codex foodgrade diatomaceous earth, with an average intake of three (3) ounces per cow per day, after six (6) months, the following results were observed. Milk production in the test group increased over 20% with butterfat remaining the same. Warbles problem came to an abrupt halt. Feed assimilation improved and fly control problems were brought under control.

A field report feeding D.E. to Dairy Cows at J.S. Bunker Farms, Mesa, AZ showed after feeding 100 dairy cows on D.E. for approximately one year, the following results were noted. Warbles became non-existent, fly nuisance almost completely disappeared, odors were almost completely gone, cows have better hair and coat condition, and have no desire to lick soil as in the past, vet bills have been significantly reduced, butterfat content has risen from 503 lb. per cow to 513 lb. per cow.

A field report on dairy cows by Daniel M. Brandy, McFarland, Wt. resulted from feeding 5 to 6 ounces of food-grade diatomaceous earth to dairy herd for a period of five weeks; Butterfat tests have shown an increase of 3.7 to 3.9; Mastitis which had been quite a severe problem, came under control (no new cases), cows are brighter and healthier in appearance and milk production has increased without an appreciable increase in feed.

Results of D.E. fed to horses by Four Winds Stables, Robert D. Horkman, Orlando, Florida. Results of feeding 5 ounces of diatomaceous earth to show horses for a period of one year. Healthier looking animals with a definite sheen to their coats, absence of internal parasites, better feed conversion, reduction in manure odor, fly control, cured scours in cases where other medications had failed and improved appetites in picky eaters.

Study of D.E. on feed pigs by M. F. Petty, D.V.M., Alabama resulted in no internal parasites discovered in the test group at any time after seven days on the D.E. All hogs on D.E. stopped rooting and destroying the wooden feeder after 10 days; By the end of the third week, the odor of the test group was noticeably less offensive than the control group, and at the end of six weeks, the fly population decreased remarkably.

Results of feeding D.E. to poultry by C.S. Morgan, D.V.M. San Diego, Ca. Using two groups of birds with each group consisting of 8,000 white leghorn caged layers in their pullet year which had been producing for five months. After feeding the test group 60 lbs. of D.E. per 1-1/2 tons of standard mixed feed (17% protein) for 1-1/2 months the following results were observed:

1. There appeared to be less flies around the test group.
2. Droppings are of a drier consistency, making for easier cleaning of the houses.
3. Seventy-five percent less deaths in the test groups.
4. A 2-4 case per day increase in egg production by the test group, compared to the control group.

Clinical observation of feeding D.E. to dogs by O. C. Collins, D.V.M. Midland Animal Clinic and Hospital, Midland, Tx. In clinical observations of feeding dogs over 35 lbs. 1 tablespoon a day and under 35 lbs. 1 teaspoon a day of D.E., within seven days all ova disappeared from stools. Diatomaceous Earth controlled Ascarids (Toxocara Canis), Hookworm (Ancylostoma caninum), and Whipworms (Trichuris vulpis).

Field report on experimental feeding of D.E. on Zoo Animals by Richard Smith, Hallwood Inc., Animal Food Specialties, Grand Rapids, Mi.

A mixture of feed incorporating 2% Diatomaceous Earth was sent to three Zoos for evaluation. John Ball Park of Grand Rapids, Michigan, Brookfield Zoos of Chicago, and Buffalo Zoo, of Buffalo, New York. John Ball and Buffalo Zoos reported that their black bears on the special feed showed a better coat and cleared eyes. The primates fed at the Brookfield Zoo displayed a pronounced improvement in both appearance and behavior. Stool samples taken at all three Zoos showed an absence of any internal parasites - adult or egg. Parasites in these animals were present prior to using the Diatomaceous Earth food mixture.

The many uses of Diatomaceous Earth

1. As a dust against fleas, lice and other external pests on dogs, cats, pigs, and chickens, horses, cattle. Use full strength as a powder, rub into dog or cats coats, sprinkle on pigs, dust on horses and cattle, and add to dusting boxes for chickens.

2. DE can be used as a dust or spray to control massed flies in pastures, on ground, in buildings and on manure piles. Due to its fine powder nature, it is best applied at night when the air is calm. Dust on 15 - 20 pounds per acre (20-25 pounds in quiet air). For liquid spray, mix two pounds per gallon of water and agitate while using.

3. When used on stored grains and seeds, it can replace chemicals like malathion. The most effective protection is achieved if grain or seeds are treated immediately after harvest by lightly coating the outside of substantially all kernels or seeds with the DE dust. This is best done by applying the powder directly as it is moved into storage. The rate is seven pounds per ton. Barley, corn, buckwheat, oats, rice, rye, wheat, sorghum, and mixtures of these grains may be treated in this manner.

4. Dusting yards like pastures or animal enclosures can work against a wide variety of lawn pests. While spreading is suitable for grass and trees, spraying should be used on shrubs or other plants. Place a teaspoon of flaxsoap (dish-soap) in a quart of warm water and add 4 ounces D.E. Keep the solution agitated when using it.

5. To protect fruit trees, sprinkle a liberal amount of DE on the ground and around the trunks. Also paint the trunks with the mixture of flax-soap (dish soap) DE and water. The protective buffer zone will impede the migration of various fruit trees flies and worms, as well as Japanese beetles. You may need to spread DE several times a year for continued control, particularly after heavy rain.

6. DE is not harmful to earthworms, since they are structurally different from insects. In fact, some earthworm growers use DE in the bedding material to control parasites in it and in the earthworms.

7. For internal use, suggested feeding rates are:

Beef Cattle - 2% by weight of total dry rations as maintenance

4% for 10 days as a worm purge

Calves - 1 oz. in morning milk

Dairy Cattle - 4% by weight of daily rations

Poultry - 5% in feed

Large Dogs - (Over 35 lbs.) 1 tablespoon per day in food

Small Dogs - (Under 35 lbs.) 1 teaspoon per day in food

Cats - 1 teaspoon per day in food

Hogs - Same as beef cattle

Horses - 5 oz. daily in grain ration per horse

Sheep - Same as beef cattle

Goats - Same as beef cattle

As a spray on livestock 50 lb. DE to 100 gallons of water (Keep agitated)

As a drench 2 parts DE to 1 part water

Joel Salatin, a raiser of organic beef near Swoope, Virginia, reported excellent results by using a free choice mixture of one part stocker salt, one part natural kelp, and one half part DE.

For pasture livestock:

As a purge - 60% DE, 20% corn meal or cotton seed meal (dry molasses may be substituted for meal) and 20% salt or mineralized salt.

As a maintenance - 60% DE, 40% salt or mineralized salt.

A recent university study was done on Agri-Safe at the Prairie View A&M University, Prairie View, Texas by Dr. Barbara Johnson. Three groups of goats were treated with diatomaceous earth for ten days at 5% of diet.

Pre-Treatment

Group A: Roundworms - 300 epg Coccidia - 2100epg
Group B: Roundworms - 600 epg Coccidia - to numerous to count
Group C: Roundworms - 0 Coccidia - 20,100 epg

Post-Treatment:

Group A: Roundworms - 0 Coccidia - 800 epg
Group B: Roundworms - 0 Coccidia - 12,000epg
Group C: Roundworms - 0 Coccidia - 2,200 epg

The results speak for themselves.

Daily use by many has seen an absence of bloat, colic, coccidiosis, acidosis, mastitis, lice, ticks, fleas, heel flies, horn flies, house flies, and other insects along with a dramatic reduction in use of chemicals to control internal and external parasites. Agri-Safe is a safe, environmentally friendly alternative to chemicals.

IN THE GARDEN.

Diatomaceous Earth is an effective alternative to toxic chemical insecticides. Diatomaceous Earth (D.E.) helps control some of the most persistent and annoying insects in the garden and in the home. It is very effective in mite and ant control, it controls spider mites, aphids, centipedes, millipedes, other crawling insects. It can be used indoors and outdoors for ants, cockroaches, crickets, earwigs, and termites. In home, it controls carpet beetles, bedbugs, and silverfish. When soft-bodied insects come in contact with D.E., it causes massive loss of body fluids and they die. When the dust is eaten by insects, the D.E. inhibits breathing, digestion and reproduction. Because it kills by mechanical action rather than poison, insects have not developed immunity. D.E. is a great asset to your garden insect control and is safe and environmentally friendly. Organic gardeners and organic farmers love it.

FARM FOR SALE

Sale of farm property by the United States Government

72 18 acre dairy and crop farm with 67 acres tillable land. Located near Cross Keys, Hamilton Township, Adams County. Owned presently by the Farm Service Agency (FSA), 57 N. Fifth Street, Gettysburg, PA.

Buildings include a two story, very old brick farm dwelling in poor condition, dairy barn built in 1987 with 60 tie stalls, milk house, stave and harvestore silos built in 1992, slurrystore manure system built in 1992, plus other out buildings. The house and dairy facility have been neglected and need repairs and renovations. Tillable soils include 42 acres; Class 2, 25 acres, Class 3.

Preference given to qualified beginning farmers. Beginning farmers are defined as applicants who have not operated a farm for more than 10 years. The farmer must operate the farm after loan closing. The applicant must be a family size farm and have sufficient management experience to qualify for FSA financing. There are other eligibility criteria also. Should FSA credit assistance not be available at the time of the sale, the property can be leased to the qualified beginning farmer selected up to 18 months, or until such time funds are available. Applications will be accepted pending completion of the advertisement process.

Sale price is $225,000. The maximum amount of financing that can be provided by FSA is $200,000. Rate is 5%, term up to 40 years. Buyer is responsible for all customary closing fees, including the 2% transfer taxes.

There is a conservation easement to the Fish and Wildlife Service covering approximately 17 acres located at the southeast corner of the property. This easement will cover bog turtle habitat and prohibit most agricultural activities. The property may not be used for any purpose that will continue to excessive erosion or highly erodible land, or conversion of wetlands to produce an agricultural commodity.

For more information and/or appointment to inspect the farm, please contact the Farm Service Agency (FSA) at 57 N. Fifth Street, Gettysburg, PA 17325. The phone number is (717) 334-6022.
